Area PO's save food stamp plan

Post offices in Livermore and Pleasanton will begin selling food stamps Sept. 15, leaving Valley residents with no local outlet for the two-week period after Aug. 31.

That's the date Valley Bank in Livermore gives up the distributorsip. Bank President Dean Kollewe confirmed Friday that the bank would not consider extending the service another 15 days until the post office could take over.

Frank Perez, county contract administrator, said if no other outlet is found for the 15-day limbo period, needy residents could get their stamps by mail.

When the post office assumes the food stamp operation, service will be provided five days a week from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Previously, the coupons could only be purchased during three-day periods after the first and fifteenth days of each month.

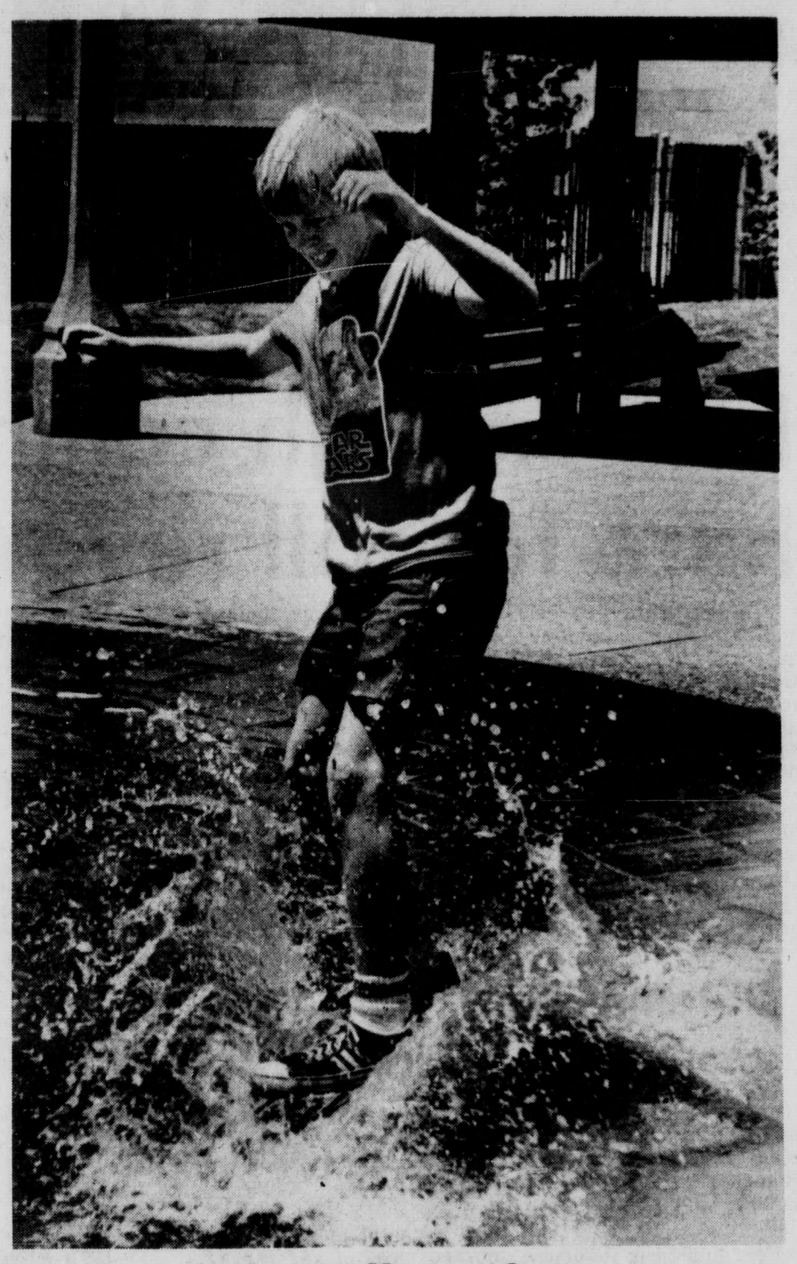

The post office said it would definitely begin service Sept. 15, but in light of the upcoming delay, would try to start on or near the first of September.

"I'm hoping for a change of heart, for the community to rally together and convince the bank to continue service for the first three days of September," Perez said Friday. He didn't hold out much hope for such a switch, he added.

Food stamps provide financial aide to about 700 families in the Valley. Only about 5 per cent of these are located in Dublin, Perez said, providing little justification for establishing a distribution point in the Valley's west end.

The scramble to find another distributor caused a political furor when Livermore Housing Authority Commissioner David Tritsch said a Livermore City Councilman threatened to disband the commisision if no quick solution was found.

Vice Mayor Dale Turner indicated he would investigate the charge.

Sidewalk surfing

A skateboard can really make waves, as Ken Partlow, 13, of Livermore discovered the other day in the middle of Lizzie Fountain. With temperatures soaring over 100 degrees, people will find just about any way they can to keep cool.

More of same today

Heat wave blasts already dry Valley

Scorching temperatures seared the Valley and its inhabitants Saturday for the second day in a row and weather experts forecast more of the same for today.

Fire station personnel throughout the Livermore-Amador Valley were poised, equipment at the ready, for some major alarm. It didn't come.

However, the California Division of Forestry station at Sunol sent firefighting personnel and equipment into Santa Clara County about 3:45 p.m. yesterday to assist in containing a 40-acre grass fire off the Sierra Grade Road, just south of Calaveras Reservoir. The blaze was stopped by 4:30 p.m.

Fred Terwilliger, district chief, said the thermometer hit 106 degrees at the Sunol station Saturday afternoon. "We are in an extremely critical fire situation now," Terwilliger said. Temperatures were a few degrees higher yesterday than Friday. The Sunol station also sent fire units to Napa, Lake County, as a standby while regular fire-fighting units in that area were batting unidentified outbeaks.

A high temperature of 106 in the shade was reported at the Livermore Municipal Airport Administration Building yesterday afernoon, compared to a high of 104 Friday. In Pleasanton unofficial reports put the highs Friday and Saturday between 102 and 106.

East Bay Regional Parks District contiued the closure of Sunol and Del Valle parks, although swimming was permitted at Del Valle yesterday.

A red flag alert is posted this weekend warning visitors to local parks and wilderness areas that conditions are listed as "extreme fire danger."

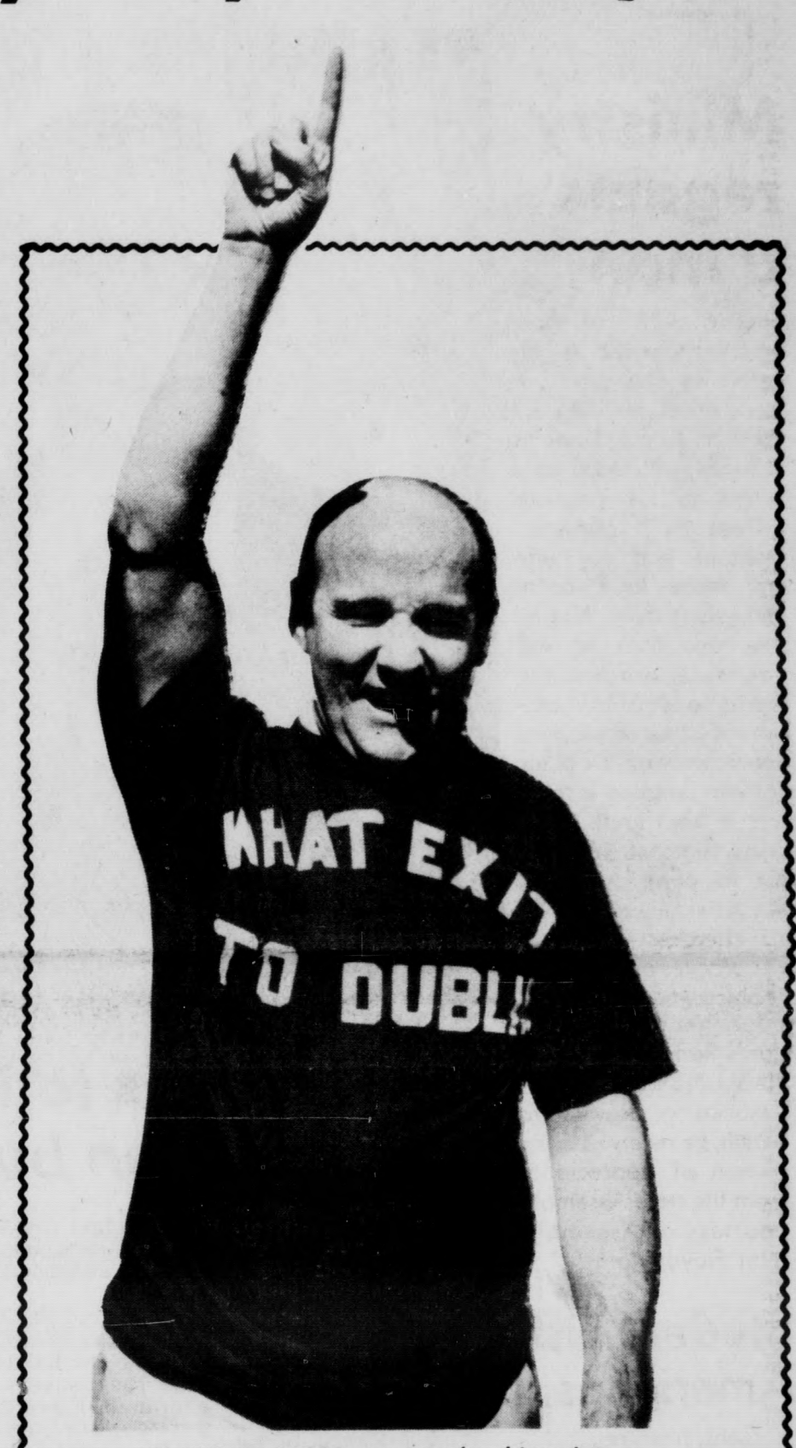

Fire Chief Rich Aronson of EBRPD said "it cannot get much worse" than it has been the past few days. He also reported that marinas at Shadow Cliffs and Del Valle would be open. However, Aronson added that there would be no hiking in the wilderness or docking boats down the lakes.

"People will be allowed to use barbecue pits in the open picnic areas," he said, "but they will not be permitted use of their own portable barbecue devices.

At Los Trampas Regional Wilderness, smoking and open fire are prohibited. Mt. Diablo State Park remains closed today because of the fire hazard.

Aronsen said the East Bay Parks helicopter can fly the entire district in about an hour and will keep a watchful eye out for any signs of fire. "In addition we will have two men in fire trucks on patrol at Tilden, Redwood and Crow Canyon fire stations," he said.

Bay Area Pollution Control District announced that air pollution for the Valley is "signficant and reaching into heavy levels."

Paul Ryan, VCSD mgr., makes his point

Dublin signs: what's a few more months?

DUBLIN — Confused motorists searching for freeway access to this town will have to go on searching blindly for a few more months, according to a letter from the state Department of Transportation.

Temporary freeway signs indicating Duublin exits off I-580 are not forthcoming, it has been learned, and there will be no markers until the massive widening project on that road is complete.

Paul Ryan, general manager of the Valley Community Services District here received word from the transportation department's senior engineer in the traffic branch.

After complaints from motorists and the Dublin Chamber of Commerce, Ryan contacted the state and tought he had won approval for some temporary freeway marking signs.

That all changed with the most recent letter which read in part: "we have been without proper signing for years — what's a few more months?"

Japanese guests impressed

LIVERMORE — Twenty two Japanese students staying in Livermore for three weeks have been studying English while visiting such landmarks as Yosemite National Park, Disneyland and UCLA.

As part of the American Institute for Foreign Study's summer program the students, ranging in age from 11 to 21, take English language classes and sightsee while staying as the guests of volunteer American families.

Most are junior high or higgh school students and all but one had studied some English before beginning the trip.

They arrived in Los Angeles July 22 and stayed on the UCLA campus and visited Disneyland last weekend.

Here they have three hours of conservational English classes each morning with two teachers from William Mendenhall School, Mrs. Betty Rossen and Mrs. Natasha Bilandzic.

Both said the only Japanese they understood was their students' names and they described their teaching method as "a lot of talking, rephrasing and questioning." "You'd be surprised how much we get done," Rosen said. If communication gets difficult the teachers turn to translation from two chaperones, Noriko Sakakura, 23, an English instructor and Nariki "Niki" Kitazaki, 21, a student at Doshisha University in Kyoto.

Friday the students were preppparing for a weekend trip to Yosemite. The teachers put them in two groups according to their English ability and practiced words and phrases they could use on a weekend camping trip.

Mrs. Gail Zwakenberg, the program coordinator here, said the trip was "a real eye opener."

"Originally 42 kids were signed up but Japan's going through a terrible inflation and half the kids couldn't come," she said.

She said after Yosemite the group planned to visit the Cowell Redwoods near Santa Cruz and San Francisco's Golden Gate Park. "Before they arrived all the parents wondered what are we going to do but the kids have been amazing.

Livermore High signups

Students who plan to attend Livermore High School but who have not yet registered for next year should call 447-3112 and ask for an appointment with a counselor.

Students who have not yet picked up their report cards frrom last term may get them in the counseling office, Monday through Friday before 4 p.m.

Crimemobile visits Dublin

Alameda County's Crimemobile will come to Dublin schools and shopping hubs during August to show residents how to combat crime.

Crime prevention literature and movies will also be available.

The van will be in Dublin during most of August. Persons interested in viewing the many exhibits can call 462-1212 for information on the van's location, dates and times.

Dublin post for sheriff evaluated

DUBLIN — Questionnaires seeking the pros and cons of establishing a "storefront" sheriff's department patrol office in Dublin are apparently for information purposes only, the department said Friday.

Sergeants in the Santa Rita patrol office are being asked to list their feelings about moving the substation and dispatch point closer to the service area.

Lt. Ed Volpe said the sheriff's dppartment had considered applying for a federal grant to set up four localized patrol offices throughout the unincorporated area. The questionnaire may have sprung from this effort, he said.

The plan was dropped when Volpe learned the application would not qualify for filing.

Volpe said sheriff's administrators had considered patrol office locations in Castro Valley, San Lorenzo and the Ashland/Cherryland area of San Leandro, as well as in Dublinn.

The sheriff's department has jurisdiction over all unincorporated areas within Alameda County, including Dublin, Sunol, and areas surrounding Livermore and Pleasanton. The department has operated out of the Santa Rita facility since 1947.

It's hot, but cows are getting by

OAKLAND — So far, range cattle in San Ramon Valley can guzzle all the water they want since East Bay Municipal Utility District (EBMUD) has no mandator water rationing where agricultural use is conccerned.

The reason for this unique situation is due to the fact most cattle and crops are watered from alternate sources such as wells, springs and ponds, according to an EBMUD spokesman.

Ordinarily, a cow weighing 1000 to 1200 pounds will drink 15 to 20 gallons of water daily, according to George McNeely. He is Farm Advisor for the University of California Cooperative Extension.

If the weather is very hot or the cow is "lactating," water intake will increase.

"A dairy cow will drink 35 to 40 gallons daily since they put out so much milk," McNeely explained.

One person from the Alameda County Resource Conservation District said he had observed cattle drinking reclaimed water only as a last resort.

"If they do drink it, they don't drink as much as they normally would," he said.

The spokesman from EBMUD said most ranchers and farmers are putting up new windmills to pump water from old wells.

"If they lease grazing land from EBMUD that, of course, entitles them to water rights," he added. "If there isn't much water available, we will install a spring or pond and a windmill for pumping. The rancher is responsible for maintainence of these installations."

Dust clouds on Stanley irk some

People are getting a little testy about the rising clouds of dust and accumulating pads of dirt on Stanley Boulevard, now that the widening project is underway.

But a spokesperson for the county road department assured The Times last week that the county has required the contractor to have two water trucks on duty during all construction hours to keep the dust down. And the area is also being swept several times a day with a street sweeper.

The road will be widened to four lanes, divided, and the bicycle lane will be replaced, more glorious than ever, with a 10 foot width instead of the five feet it used to have. Intended completion date is April 6, 19778, for the stretch from Shadow Cliffs Park to Murdell Lane in Livermore.

Another try for those signs

DUBLIN — Another crack at trying to get the Dublin exit sign mystery solved on Interstate-580 has been taken by the Valley Community Services District (VCSD).

A first request was made June 7 for "Dublin Next Right" signs to be installed on east and westbound I-580 lanes. VCSD General Manager, Paul Ryan, wrote the State Department of Transportation asking if they would at least erect temporary signs. He said he understood it would be difficult to put in permanent signs until the construction work on I-580 was completed.

Ryan made the request after receiving complaints from people unable to find a way into Dublin easily. The Dublin Chamber of Commerce reported they had received similar complaints.

In reply to his first request, Ryan received a letter dated June 17 from the State Department of Transportation stating "arrangements have been made to install the permanent sign reading "Dublin Next Right." The letter was signed by Richard Hong for T.R. Lammers. Hong is senior engineer of the traffic branch of the State Department of Transportation. Lammers is district director of the same department.

Hong indicated this sign would be placed at one of the most bothersome spots Ryan had described; namely, in advance of the westbound off-ramp approaching San Ramon Valley Boulevard and Foothill Road. No mention was made in Hong's letter about erecting other signs.

Ryan called Hong June 22 and was told they were waiting on mounting posts. Hong indicated installation would be "very soon," Ryan said.

Ryan's second written plea was directed to Lammers. It was dated July 28.

....."Today I spoke with Mr. Hong who informed me that Mr. Summersville, the State's Resident Engineer, controls the job and that we should call him prior to writing to your office. Before I wrote my June 7 letter, I called Mr. Summersville and requested a temporary sign and was told that the community can wait for the permanent signs which are scheduled to go in this fall. As Mr. Hong advised, our Public Works Director called Mr. Summersville this morning and was informed today was the first he had ever heard of our request for a temporary sign; that he could do nothing unless ordered to do so by higher authority in your Construction Department; that we have been without proper signing for years — what's a few more months?"

Ryan ended by again asking for immediate temporary signs.

Ode to boss

The 580
Award of Exit-lence
In days of old, voyagers, explorers,
Scouts, pathfinders and trailblazers
Searched in vain.

In days anew, truckers, cyclists, vanpoolers,
Campers, hitchikers, and well-drillers
Paused and passed by again —
They never found the lost way to Dublin-town.
But the, lo, a sign was made unto them:
An arrow! Where unnamed road had been!

And, lest time obscure the anguish the past seeker bears,
We need but look upon what Paul Ryan wears.

Anonymous poem presented to VCSD General Manager Paul Ryan from his staff.

Ryan made renewed request for temporary signs

Ministry regains a man

Smiling with the gold watch presented on his retirement as Pleasanton's chief building inspector, Chuck Dobbins is looking forward to a return to his previous career as a minister. Dobbins and his wife will move to Pleasant Hill, where their children live, and then he will commute around the world to establish missions for his Protestant denomination. Dobbins got into building inspection in the South after many years of ministering to congregations and physically constructing churches. He also was a boxer in his youth. Dobbins was honored at a luncheon Friday at Hap's Restaurant by the Pleasanton Employees Association. Besides the watch, he received a resolution of appreciation from the state Assembly, courtesy of Assemblyman Floyd Mori.

Not enough commuters here for toll revolt

PLEASANTON — It was a disappointing turnout, but the Committee to Fight the Toll Tax hopes that the few Valley residents who attended a rally here last week will organize a local grass roots effort.

Their cause is the abolition of the 25 cent bridge toll increase on the San Francisco Bay Bridge and toll increases on the other bridges.

And in the long run, their goal is to switch control of the Bay Bridge back to the Bay Bridge Authority from the Metropolitan Transportation Commission.

The MTC goes through money like water, so it may happen that the Bay Bridge tolls will rise to $2 in a couple of years, say committee members. The Bay Bridge Authority hadn't raised the tolls in years because the bridge is paid off.

Only a handful of Valley residents showed up at a local savings and loan association last week to hear BART director Bob Allen talk about what ought to be done. And only two residents signed the sheet to be contacted by the Fremont - based group.

Eva Ricciarelli of Fremont, one of the group's officials, hoped that the two Pleasanton men would get something going locally. Howevr, the commuters have such long commutes to San Francisco that they don't have much evening time to devote to a political cause, said Ricciarelli.

Perhaps another factor in the poor turnout was geography. The group's strength so far has been in Fremont, Newark and Castro Valley, where many drive daily to San Francisco. But in the Valley only 5 or perhaps 10 per cent of the many commuters drive to San Francisco. Most go to Oakland, Hayward or Walnut Creek and aren't bothered by a toll bridge increase.

Ricciarelli pointed out that commuters will pay an extra $50 annually if they drive five days a week to San Francisco. But that isn't the half of it. Alameda County Supervisor Joseph Bort thought that the new 75 cent toll is not high enough and wanted a $1 fee. He added that it's possible in two years the toll should be $2 in order to meet MTC's ballooning expenses, said Ricciarelli.

People who want to get more information about the group may call 656-7702.

Stanley Blvd. dairy seeks sign variance

LIVERMORE — The next round of the sign placement battle between Holdener's Dairy and City Council begins 8 p.m. Monday.

Fred and Elsie Holdener resurrected their earlier efforts to get a variance that would allow the sign to be placed so motorists on Stanley Boulevard would see the dairy's identification.

The Holdeners went the complete route earlier this year, pleading that business was hurting because people can't find them and that some accidents were barely avoided when customers slammed on brakes because they saw the sign too late.

They were turned down by both the planning commission and the council, and have returned for a second attempt. Planning commissioners turned down the second request July 12.

"I was shocked when we went to the planning commission meeting and they glared at us," said Mrs. Holdener. She plans to carry her battle cry of "discrimination" to the council tomorrow, prepared to point to many other sign ordinance violations in town.

Mrs. Holdener favors a change in the sign ordinance, to prevent the downtown area from becoming a sign jungle, yet allow latitude in areas of the city that are not heavily built up.

The Holiday Inn was allowed a sign variance for safety sake, she argues while noting the safety aspect of her own case.

SRV trustees to tackle $25.9 million budget plan

DANVILLE— The San Ramon Valley Unified School District's $w5.9 million budget for 1977-78 comes up for a public hearing and adoption Monday night.

Other than the budget, the agenda is unusually light for San Ramon trustees. They convene at 7:30 p.m. in the Education Center, 699 Old Orchard Dr.

Also scheduled for action is a policy concerning a student board of truste-s, terminating the responsibility of the ad hoc committee on school budget and finance, financial reports, certificated and classified personnel actions, and an executive session.

The 77-78 budget totals $25,902,298.

San Ramon projects an enrollment in excess of 14,100 in September with a certificated and classified staff of almost 1,100 persons to serve the district.

Student visitors like Americans, Disneyland

Most of the kids play the piano and some of the boys have played soccer with our boys," Zwakenberg. said.

"The relations fo the students with the families are getting better," Noriko said.

Niki agreed and added, "At first they asked me everything but now they can do it for themselves."

After English class, with Niki translating the hard words, the students asked about American life.

Yoshide Kishino, 16, wondered if the East Coast was a more dangerous place than the West Coast.

Tomoko Kumita, 13, asked about the drought.

"She said she has read about the water shortage and wanted to know how come you use so much water," Niki said.

Tamami Saito, 19, asked why the Americans she met knew very little about Japan.

Among the things they agreed on on: Disneyland was bigger than amusement parks in Japan, Americans were friendly to foreign visitors.

The Foothill Falcon mural; a gift of the first graduating class. Among the artists working on the project were, from left, Laurie Ely, Roberta Blackwood, Beth Eby, and Terry Schoop.

Foothill grads' art says thanks

PLEASANTON— The Class of '77 at Foothill High School, first ever to graduate from the school, pondered long and hard at what to present as a class gift when they graduated.

What they came up with could hardly be more appropriate— and beautiful.

A mural of a falcon in flight with the words "Class of 77" painted across the wing span is what they came up with.

The mural was chosen by the class from a selection of possible gifts to Foothill High School. The subject is the school's falcon mascot. It is an adaptation of a photograph.

Along with the mural, the class left a $100 scholarship to a member of the Class of '78, with the prerequisite that the person selected have demonstrated strong leadership and spirit while attending Foothill.

Due to various delays, the 8-by-24 foot mural was begun only two weeks before graduation. In fact, the school's royal blue and gold colors were still drying the night before graduation.

"Unfortunately," adds Terry Schoop, one of the prime movers in the project, "even though the job was finished, the extreme concentration on the commencement ceremony entirely upstaged public viewing of the mural."

The mural artists included, beside Schoop, Roberta Blackwood, Bety Eby, Laurie Ely, David Albert, Erin Bonnell, Sue Kruppa, and Philis Soresi.

The student committee also wished to thank Laurence Ely, Tony Klucker, Joan Mackay, John Regalado and Robert "Woody" Wood.

The mural was exhibited for The Times' camera Friday.

Sailing lessons offered

PLEASANTON — Another round of sailboat classes will begin tomorrow in the recreation department's plan to turnout Toro class sailors.

The classes will run for two weeks with one from 10 a.m. to noon, the other from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Fee is $25 and includes admission to the park, use of the sailboat and all literature needed.

Sailboat rentals are available to the public at Shadow Cliffs. For rates, call 455-1544.

Murray eyes $8.3 million budget

DUBLIN— Trustees of the Murray School District will learn Monday that final approval of plans and specificiations for construction at Frederiksen School is anticipated by August 15, at which time bids will be advertised.

Board members will also act to adopt an $8.3 million budget for 1977-78.

The board convenes at 8 p.m. at Murray School, 8435 Davona Dr.

A public hearing is also scheduled on the board's response to the classified employees' contract proposal.

Copies of the California School Employees Association, Chapter 439, contract are available to the public.

At a previous board meeting, assistant superintendent Heinz Gewing said the board's response to the CSEA contract was basically the provisions of the current contract.

The Education Code allows districts to study classified wage rates, compare with other districts, and continue the prior year's salary schedule while the survey is being conducted. A resolution passed by the board carries the prior year salaries forward until the 1977-78 schedule is determined. Salaries would then be adjusted retroactive to July 1.

Other items on the brief agenda include certificated and classified personnel actions, and an update on consolidation and conversion.

Preliminary approval for Frederiksen construction plans was given by the school planning section of the Department of Education and reported at the last board meeting.

Board members will also learn the district architect is working on the bid specfications for the Donlon School walls. This construction will not be completed prior to school starting, however, the district is hoping to receive bids on the project prior to Sept. 2.

Bids are being solicited on the cabinetry for the entrance ways in "B" and "C" pods. The district had originally hoped to have this portion done by district personnel. After receiving the drawings and reevaluating the time-frame the district found they could not complete the shelving units and framed wall within the time allotted and therefore have solicited outside help.

Library to show films

PLEASANTON — Three films for school age children will be shown at 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. Tuesday for school age children at the library, 4333 Black Ave.

The program will include "How the Whale Got His Throat", a funny recounting of Kipling's tale; "The Golden Fish", the story of a special pet; and "Sharks", the Jacques Costeau film.

State aid to school districts

(This is the second of two articles on the California Supreme Court's Serrano decision and what it means to young people and all property taxpayers. The articles were prepared by the office of Wilson Riles, state Superintendent of Public Instruction)

The way state aid is being allocated to local school districts in California is in violation of the State Constitution.

That's really what the state Supreme Court's Serrano decision is concerned about.

Local districts receive two kinds of aid from the state: General purpose funds to support a foundation program, and categorical aid to fund special needs. Approximately 75 per cent of the $3 billion in state funds allocated to local districts each year is general aid for foundation support.

That's the portion of state aid the court found to be unconstitutional. Thus, it's the foundation program that's receiving most of the attention of the governor and members of the state legislature.

Here's how California's foundation aid program works:

First, the state establishes a per pupil expenditure foundation figure for each of the three kinds of local school districts. For the 1976-77 school year, the foundation figures were: $1,012 per pupil for elementary school districts; $1,198 for high school districts; and for unified districts, $1,032 for elementary and $1,218 for high school pupils.

Then, the state provides a minimum of $125 per pupil in basic aid to all local school districts, rich or poor.

Next, the state determines how much of the foundation figure minus basic aid each district should be able to raise if it levies a certain property tax rate. The rate used is known as the computational tax rate. It represents what the state considers an adequate effort by the district. It is not necessarily the same as the district's actual property tax rate.

If it is determined that a local district can raise all of the foundation figure minus basic aid through local property taxes, then that district receives no further foundation support from the state. Such districts are known as basic aid districts. They are, in fact, the state's high property wealth school districts.

Many districts, of course, cannot raise enough money through local property taxes to meet the per pupil foundation figure . In such cases, the state makes up the difference between what it can raise and the foundation figure minus basic aid. This is known as equalization aid and such districts are known as equalization districts. They are districts with less property wealth per pupil.

Unfortunately, the system isn't quite as simple or as equitable as it seems.

It has two shortcomings, each of which creates inequities.

First, because basic aid of $125 per pupil goes to all districts, even those with the most property wealth, the state is providing money to many districts that really don't need it.

Second, voters have the power to exceed state-imposed limits on per pupil spending through voter overrides, thus perpetuating inequities in per pupil expenditures.

Under the current system, per pupil expenditures in 1975-76 ranged from a low of $728 to a high of $4,918.

Put another way, one district spent only $728 on each of its pupils. Others spend as much as six times that amount.

The state Supreme Court said in its Serrano decision that differences in annual per pupil expenditures due to local property wealth must not exceed $100.

The court suggested a variety of alternative solutions. Many are being considered by the State Legislature.

Whatever approach is adopted, Riles says his main concern is that it not be limited to the foundation program alone.

Dorothy DeBolt (left), mother of 11 adopted children and founder of AASK, discusses plans to initiate a local chapter of the adoption service for hard to place children with Marty Wadekamper of Pleasanton.

AASK helps handicapped kids find permanent homes

Attitudes about adoption have changed over the years, but the institutions which service adoption haven't changed at the same pace. That's created a void Dorothy DeBolt is trying to fill with AASK, Aid to Adoption of Special Kids, a service she founded to help handicapped, minority, and older kids find permanent homes.

AASK, through its referral service, has placed more than 300 children who had been tagged by agencies as "unadoptable" with families and single parents eager to have them.

Mrs. DeBolt met with area residents recently to spur interest in forming a Pleasanton chapter of AASK. Chris Annee and Marty Wadekamper, both from Pleasanton, were instrumental in contacting Mrs. DeBolt.

Annee, who is a teacher with Alameda County Special Schools, said a support group here would help locals who want to adopt special children. Equally important, she said, will be the help from those who aren't interested in adoption for themselves, but want to support the effort.

The special meeting had it emotional moments, with lots of teary eyes, as Mrs. DeBolt recounted why she and her husband came to start AASK.

Thirteen years ago Mrs. DeBolt, then Mrs. Atwood, found herself widowed with seven children five of her own and two adopted Korean orphans.

She moved the family from Placerville to the Bay Area to start their new life. "At that time I became aware of war-wounded Vietnamese children," she said. Within a few years she and her children decided to adopt two paraplegic Vietnamese boys.

"Those two boys changed my life most drastically. How can we complain about a lousy headache when we see what it's like for them."

In 1970, another big change happened to the family. Dorothy married Bob DeBolt. Among other thngs, this put an end to her son's delight in telling church members that he didn't have a father, just an unwed mother.

With Bob's daughter the family's younger generation numbered 10 — and that was just the beginning. When asked how many chilren are now in the family Mrs. DeBolt answers, "When I left this moring there were 19, when I get home ..."

A story about their adopted daughter Karen, who came to them without arms or legs, but with the help of special equipment was completely ambulatory, was published in the Reader's Digest. The response was so overwhelming the DeBolts decided there was an urgent need to provide people who wanted to adopt handicapped children with more help than existing agencies were prepared to give.

Karen was the first massively handicapped child in the U.S. to be adopted, but Mrs. DeBolt adds quickly, "Not the last."

Since 1973, when the DeBolts opened shop in their Piedmont garage, six service groups have formed, or are in the process of forming to support AASK morally and financially. AASK was founded with the philosophy that families adopting special children should not be charged adoption fees. AASK's funding has come wholly through private donations.

Funding, in fact, is what will make or break AASK's plans to become a licensed adoption agency in California.

Mrs. DeBolt explained that a prerequisite to licensing is evidence of sufficient funding to cover the salary of a social worker and on-going operational costs. "We're going to make it by the October deadline," assures the mother of 19. "We're two-fifths there and the momentum is building."

When AASK is licensed it will be the first private agency in 60 years to get the state's nod.

Mrs. DeBolt eased some of the worries when she said that the Crippled Children's Society pays for all medical expenses of handicapped children that are adopted.

And she soothed another concern when she said, "What these children have taught us to see is the magnificent human spirit, not the hooks and crutches and braces."

Another Pleasanton organizational meeting will be held in August. Interested persons can contact Marty Wadekamper at 846-4995.

Newcomers crepes for amateur gourmets

Every month, the Livermore Newcomers Club gets together for what they call a "Cook-'n-Taste" session. There's really more tasting going on than anything else, especially if the foods are cooked by Arlene Burt, one of the club gourmets.

Last session, Arlene tried crepes — both filled with meat (for entrees) and with sour creme and fruit (for desserts). Either way, it was heaven on the palate. Here's Arlene's basic recipe — and her easy instructions for turning out those crepes. Believe it or not, it's not hard.

RECIPE FOR BASIC CREPE BATTER

Mix in blender for 15 seconds: 4 eggs, 1 cup milk, ½ cup pre-sifted flour. Then, add ½ teas. salt, 3 tbsp. melted, slightly cooled butter, and blend for ten seconds more.

Put the mixture in the refrigerator for 1 hour. It can keep there for four days, or can be frozen for up to four months.

To make the crepes, use a pan with a flat bottom, and very shallow sides, if possible. Cure it (or make it stick-proof) by putting it on medium heat with 1 tbsp. of oil rubbed inside, for about two or three minutes. Wipe out the excess oil with a paper towel, and you're ready to go.

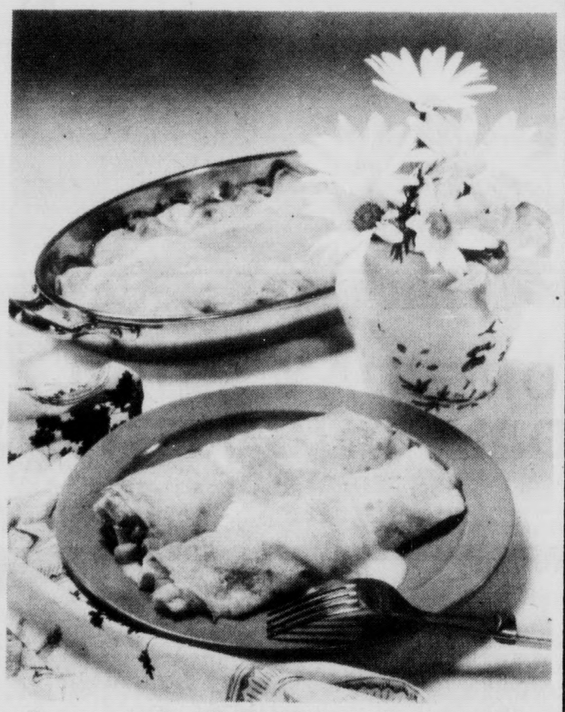

There's an easy method for the actual crepe-making:

- Put the empty crepe pan on a medium-high stove for 15 seconds, then
- Take it off, and quickly pour in batter (about three or four tablespoons. Roll it around and coat the pan, then
- Dump excess batter back, and heat the pan well until crepe is brown around the edges.
- Carefully pop the crepe out by gently pulling it away from the sides of the pan, and flipping it out.

There is no need to cook the crepes on both sides, since the thin batter practically cooks on both sides by itself. You're done!

Other variations on the crepe theme include filling them with creamed turkey and vegetables, as shown here, with a bubbly melted cheese topping. Or, they can be stuffed with beef and spinach, and topped with tomato sauce and cheese — this was a Newcomer Club specialty.

For dessert, fill them with a mixture of ½ cup sour cream, 4 tbsp. sugar, and 2 cups strawberries for a delightful sweet. If you're itching to try out some new crepe recipes, simply consult your imagination. Or better yet, join the Newcomers Club for a monthly gourmet cooking lesson. For more information, call membership director Pat Wintemute at 455-9616.

Crepes can be filled with just about anything — from strawberries and sour creme to turkey and vegetables, as shown here.

Jamboree or bust

Nine local Boy Scouts are traveling to Pennsylvania this weekend to attend the 1977 National Scout Jamboree with the San Francisco Bay Area Boy Scout Council.

Frederick S. Allison, and Pat and Tim Fullmer of Livermore will attend the Jamboree. Jeffrey Andrew, Gary and Lee Coller, Ian B. Frazer, Scot Hogan and Ralph Fehrmann from Pleasanton will also be going to the ceremonies.

En route to the Jamboree the group will tour Valley Forge, Independence Hall, Amish County, Washington D.C., Gettysburg and Pittsburg, Penn.

Area bridge buffs invited

Local bridge buffs who are also interested in cutting down on cigarette smoking while benefiting cancer research are invited to join the Sword of Hope Bridge Association (SHBA).

To start other groups in the community, or to Find where groups are meeting now, call SHBA coordinators Loraine Fajtik at 828-7951 or Mrs. Huseman at 828-4654.

Elderly praise bus rides in Danville

DANVILLE — For some it means keeping that all important doctor's appointment. For others it's going to the beauty parlor or picking up a few essentials at the drug store or supermarket.

But for all the home bound elders who regularly ride the Danville - Alamo senior citizens mini-bbus, it's mostly a way of staying in touch with the outside world without having to rely on the good-will of relatives and friends.

"It's opened up a new life for me," said 90-year-old Charles Farmer of Danville, as he steppedd gingerly out of the van on his way to a senior citizens luncheon recently. "I don't know how we got along without it." The eight - passsenger bus, which has been transporting seniors two days a week between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. since May 12, just began a third opperation on Wednesdays to accomodate those wanting to go to Kaiser Hospital and the Social Security Office in Walnut Creek.

The air conditioned van makes door-to-door pickups and deliveries, and says volunteer bus driver John Bird, retired dean of Washington University's dental school in St. Louis, Mo., "We'll take them any place they want to go in Alamo and Danville." To visit a friend across townn or if sommeone wants to throw in aload of laundry at a local laundromat, the bus is at their disposal, he said.

It's not exactly spur of the moment service, however. Reservations must be made 24 hours in advance by calling 837-0226, between 9 a.m. and noon.

The operation might aptly be called the brainchild of senior power with a little help from their friends. It was developed by the Alamo-Danville Committee on Aging, two-thirds of whom are seniors themselves.

The friends are the Danville Rotary Club and several local banks. Rotary donated the van with the banks adding amenities such as air conditioning and a power step to ease the older passengers up and down from the bus. A grant from the county Area Agency on Aging provides bus maintenance.

The project is run strictly by volunteers like human dynamo Martha Schremp. Schremp admits to being 79, but he moves with the vitality of a teenager as she juggles the logistics of dispatching and scheduling the van runs.

The energetic Danville resident said she naturally fell into the job because of her organizational abilities developed as an office and personnel manager for many years in Montreal, Canada.

But grueling six-hour volunteer days, she acknowledged, are getting to be too much. As soon as the committee can hire a paid dispatcher and bus driver, Schremp said she's ready to quit. When this happens, she added, the free bus service will operate on a daily basis.

With expanded service, Schremp also envisions passengers being taken on "pleasure" drives around the area to enjoy scenery or stopping off for a bit of sightseeing at some interesting spot. "The main idea," she said, "is to get people out who normally don't get out."

So far, she said, "everybody's been enthused.

Maid contestants

These thirty-five lovely ladies will be competing in the Contra Costa County Fair Maid contest Aug. 3. This is the largest contingent of contestants that ever applied for the title. Previous Fair Maid competition has featured an average of 15-18 contestants. The unusually high number of entries has forced fair officials to institute preliminary judging — a long-standing portion of the contest rules which has never had to be enforced. To narrow the field, preliminary judging will take place 6 p.m., Aug. 2 at Holiday Lodge in Antioch.

Affluent more suicide prone

By BARBARA COHEN
Times Staff Writer

DANVILLE — If you think moving to the suburbs is the answer to your personal problems, forget it.

Danville, not North Richmond, is the place for suicides, Beatrice Bers of the Contra Costa Crisis and Suicide Prevention Bureau told members of the Valley Action Forum in Danville.

Bers said that more people among the middle and upper middle classes attempt to or commit suicide than those who live in poverty areas. Those in poverty situations, explained Bers, often learn to cope with adversity at an early age. But here, in the affluent suburbs, "our expectations are enormous. If we don't live up to our expectations, we feel we have failed."

Of the 6,000 calls to the crisis hot line last year, most came from the wealthier central part of the county, Bers said. Every year there are more actual sucides in central county than say in Richmond or Martinez." were Last year there 97 suicides throughout the county.

Bers maintained that the more affluent tend "to make their own stress." Often, she said not getting that $100,000 home or plum job throw people into a tizzy.

There are also many more frenzied calls from young married women stuck at home with children, who scream they are absolutely ready to kill their children and themselves, she said.

This is the end of the American dream for many women.

Since they've been children they've been told that the answer to happiness was getting married and having children. Now, all of a sudden, they're admitting that "they hate it and they don't want it."

But even a bad marriage can sometimes be less pressing than facing our suburban walls alone.

Bers said in the long run twice as many single persons commit suicide than married ones.

Today, she said people between the ages of 20 to 35 are more prone to kill themselves. In fact, suicide ranks as the second largest cause of death among college students, she pointed out.

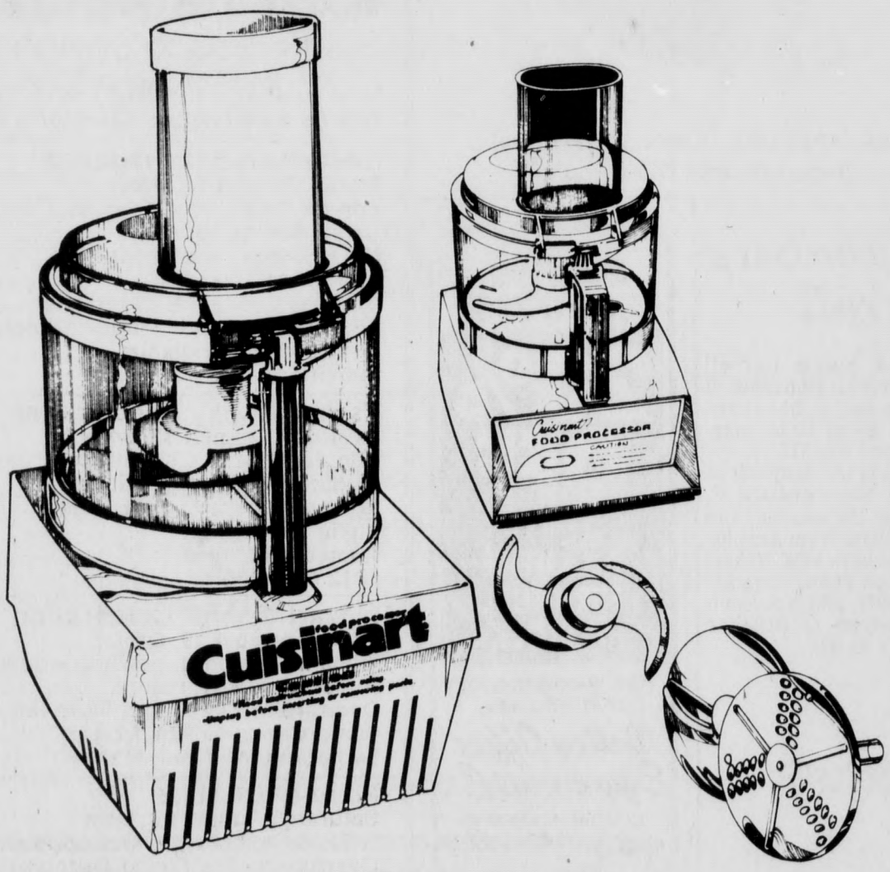

Bers said the hot-line operates 24 hours a day every day, and anyone in need should call 939-3232.

By JON MICHAEL REED

ALL MY CHILDREN: Tara blamed Phil for spanking little Phil, who ran away, was kidnapped and held for ransom in a motel where he was found by Tom Cudahy, a young man from the next room. Erica fielded heavy passes from Benny, while resisting Mark's suggestion they be friends. Donna tried to console Chuck during the kidnapping crisis, but a drunken Phoebe threw her out. Nancy left Karl for her job in Pine Valley, but insisted she wasn't returning because of Frank. Nigel Fargate returned to repay Myrtle's loan and learned of Kitty's deteriorating health.

ANOTHER WORLD: Alice admitted to Ray she's been having dreams in which Willis appears to be her dead husband Steve. Iris insinuated to Marc that Rachel rented a new apartment with Quentin as a new love interest. Olive and Evan gloated when John signed over the new house to her. Brian dated Gwen while also enjoying Iris' jealousy of Elena. Vera and Elena had a cat fight over Elena sending JeFf to New York. Rachel found Mac with Pat and assumed the worst.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: Bob performed a successful second operation for internal injuries on Tom, while Grant fretted that the crisis brought Lisa closer to Bob. David and Ellen fretted when Annie accepted Beau's proposal. Don returned briefly to warn Natalie to lay off Joyce and that it didn't matter now if Joyce had tricked him into marriage. Dick agreed to close Dan's case after John skipped town. Ralph got chummy with Mary. Beau joined Grant's law firm. Susan realized her finances are in a rut. Tom blamed himself for Chuckie's death. Natalie opened her new real estate offices while stalling signing the deal with Jay and Carol.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: Trish and Toni were roughed up by an underworld figure who was trying to get information from Toni. Danny saved the day but Trish nearly aborted. Bill accused Griffin of being knife-happy, unaware that Griffin's treating Alice, who was diagnosed as needing a hysterectomy. Samantha stole and forged Marlena's prescription pads. She's popping pills while fretting about her married lover. Johnny joined Rebecca for her court battle, while Doug and Julie were at odds choosing sides between Robert and Rebecca. Phyllis concluded that Neil had an affair with Brooke. Maggie hedged Mickey's suggestion of a joint camping trip with the Bartons, since she's aware that Fred beats Jean. A drunken Mike caused a scene at the hospital with Trish.

THE DOCTORS: Ann skipped town before she could be served the annulment papers. Barney caught on to what Luke is up to with Doreen and Eleanor and insisted he be in on the money action. Nola schemed to make Jason jealous by pretending she's dating other men. Tom gave M.J. a friendship necklace. Steve urged Jason to find Ann so Steve and Carolee can be married.

THE EDGE OF NIGHT: Denise needled Miles about Nicole's return and told Carol she has plans for Nicole. Deborah helped Steve learn that Packy is the nickname of a man named Eddie Packard. Danny was convinced Tracy has returned to prostitution and started divorce proceedings. Draper helped April find an apartment near his.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: Monica assisted in the operation that saved Steven Lars' life. Mark caught up with Mary Ellen before she could leave the country. Larry Joe confronted Heather about marrying Jeff, then suffered an apparent heart attack. Audrey decided to sue Tom for desertion. Jessie began dated Lt. C.W. Sage. Diana enjoyed a brief afternoon with Mike who was brought into the hospital with a broken arm.

GUIDING LIGHT: Hope went to see Ben before she left for Paris. Evie found them kissing, ran through the woods, and fell unconscious into a ravine. An acquaintance of Rita's from Texas, Hillary Kincaid, arrived in town. Holly fumed that Roger told Rita he was Christina's father. Barbara informed Adam that her lawyer is preparing the divorce papers. Jackie resolved to keep the whole truth about her abortion from Justin.

LOVE OF LIFE: While Meg insisted that Rick meet her about getting rid of Ian on her home turf, Cal admitted to Van that she's jealous of Meg. Carrie resolved to mend her fences with Arlene after Ray informed her that Arlene's going to the dogs boozing. Ian arranged to meet Frankie at Arlen's apartment.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE: Victor Lord's nephew, Richard Abbott, began work with Pat at the newspaper. Pat was devastated when Paul showed up on her doorstep. Brian was overjoyed. Paul knows that Pat is engaged to Tony. Brad suggested to Dorian that Will be taken off the hospital staff. Jenny felt guilty for Naomi's death. Samantha began seeing Marco again.

RYAN'S HOPE: Alicia planned to sue Pat after learning that Angel is half-paralyzed. Mary dated Tom who suggested she do a story about the hospital to counteract Jack's accusations.

SEARCH FOR TOMORROW: Allen and Fay held Wade for ransom in a deserted farm. They forced him to tape a message to Janet to cooperate fully. Bob told Jo about the wife Greg lost in Vietnam and that's why Greg is reluctant to admit his love for Jo. Carolyn told Gary she's leaving her hospital job. David passed his bar exams.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS: Jill broke her engagement to David. Derek warned Jill not to take their fling seriously, while persuading Kay that his intentions toward Kay are genuine. Jody turned down Tom's marriage proposal. Lance was jealous when Laurie ran into an old boyfriend in Paris. Joann lectured on losing weight.

Wayward bus

Public transit is a sure - fire trip into that "Damned if you do, Damned if you don't" territory.

The great majority of us — in this enlightened age of energy shortages, air pollution and crowded freeways — are now convinced the end of its time. But few of us are convinced it's my car that should be the first to go.

If not the single - family - auto, then public transit's the answer. Right? Wrong — not if you read the facts on huge deficits, bad management, misguided unions and unguided legislators, which abound in the passenger transit business.

Sacramento says: Raise the fares and make transit pay more of its own way! But the people respond: Raise those fares and you'll drive more of us out of public transportation and back into the family car.

MTC says: Boost the bridge tolls in order to help bail out regional and municipal transit systems! And commuters throughout the East Bay are urged to "unite in protest to this unconsitutional money - grab."

Urban society knows we are locked in a life - and - death struggle to save ourselves, our countryside, even our air as we seek to move great numbers of us from one place to another. And we are losing that struggle, on all counts.

Still, we are unable to make even one intelligent move ... to end our enslavement to the automobile, or to make that, 80 - year - old machine adapt to the energy, the environment, the society we know today.

We stand paralized even as the disease known as "Los Angeles" spreads steadily northward. George Orwell was wrong. "1984" is not that far away.

Schools big biz

Public schools in this valley are big businesss, the biggest in terms of numbers involved.

Murray School District, the smallest enrollment-wise with 5,040 expected in September, will act on a budget totaling $8,495,872 Monday night.

The Amador high school district will enroll approximately 4,800 and Pleasanton elemmentary about 5,300 when classes resume five weeks from nows. Their budgets for 1977-78 add up to $18.2 million.

But that's just part of the story.

If you add up the number of teachers and classified employeess in those districts, plus Livermore and San Ramon Valley Unified, you'll find employment for slightly more than 3,000 persons.

Put the budgets together and you come up with $76.8 million that taxpayers will pay to see that their schools are run properly.

Add up the enrollments of the five districts with number employed and school "involvement" totals 46,700— give or take a few students here or instructional aides there.

Is the taxpayer getting his money's worth?

The specific time to ask that question comes this week as the districts hold public hearings on their budgets. Murray will adopt their final budget Monday as will San Ramon; Livermore and Amador have public hearings on budgets Tuesday and the Pleasanton district on Wednesday.

Public schools deserve our support, but they must also stand ready to answer why and where the monies are going.

Letters to the Times

One 'Gay' speaks

Editor, The Times:

In reference tc the letter (7-22-77) from G. Rodger Gathers of Pleasanton, and to all who agree with this letter, perhaps out of fear, human blindness, or unreasonable prejudism; ...

Rodger Gathers stated, and I quote "Homosexuuality is neither hereditery nor caught, but rather something learned, hence the concern about homosexual teachers in the school system is entirely valid." Is Roger Gathers the new authority on this subject? ... No body, including gay people, know why they are gay, only that we prefer to be.

Would the fact that a teacher is gay, be a persuading factor in the sexual growth and maturity of any of his students? If the student were hetero sexual, I'd have to say no. I assume that the majority of my teacher were straight and it had no persuasive value on me ... I hope for the day that all humans, gay or otherwise, can just be what he feel from within and not live in someone elses dream, because they demand it of him.

Remember this Rodger Gathers; Gay people are Black, White, Yellow and of all races ... and of all religeous persuasion ... and of all occupations and of all ages, sex's and relations.

Do away with gay people, Blacks, Jews, Women and all oppressed people and what you have left is an army, out to fight life itself.

Good Luck to You! In Your Struggle.

No socks, banned

Editor, The Times:

Last evening we had an extremely disturbing experience. Having lived in Pleasanton for five years and frequenting all the local restaurants, we decided to take our parents visting from Santa Cruz to Bellina's, only to be refused admittance. The waitress showed us to our table but said my husband would not be allowed to dine because he had no socks on with his sandals. Neither my son nor I had sock on with our sandals, as, incidentally, neither did the women at three other tables.

We asked to see the manager, who could say no more than, "We have a problem in Pleasanton with four communes, and we're trying to keep those people out." Granted, rules are acceptable in any business establishment as long as they apply to all. However, in our case, as my husband was clean and neatly dressed, we felt it was a clear instance of discrimination. Our parents were very embarassed; and we determined to share our strong feelings against unequal discrimination with others in the Valley communitty.

Livermore wrong

Editor, The Times:

Referring to Richard Stout's letter to you of Wed. 7/27, the city planning commission has been wrong most of the time; witness the horrible safety hazards created by the underpasses, especially on North P St! All you have to do is take a traffic count over a week's time on those two underpass streets and compare each with the traffic count on Junction Ave. and see the proof!

The fact there are schools and churches in the Junction Ave. area makes the hazard more insidious because children's lives will be at take. The city planning commission makes many mistakes; witness the idea of a boulevard on Railroad and the mall idea which now is being queestioned! Witness also the fact that every newspaper article on the city parking lot keeps saying Regan and the owners and Never do the articles Say who the "other owners" are! The Holdeners have paid assessments; they have been treated like nonresidents, nonbusinessmen; they have Paid Through the Nose. Yet, the brickyard owners are caressed with a big fat amount for land which has been kept just for this moment.

Why can't the city parking lot and the gravel pit land be condemned for the Public Good just like all those who lost property for the railroad project ... Why?

Pray for CARD

Editor, The Times:

I hope CARD has enough money to go to court on their petition rejected by Pleasantoon's City Council. Valley voters had the good sense to vote down LAVWMA's pipeline. That vote should be the mandate — not some dictum from an unelected regional bureaucracy. I'm praying for you CARD.

Fremont contends that we pollute the water in Niles Canyon that enters their aquifers. Not so. We treat our effluent (at great cost) to higher standards than the water we can pump from our own wells. Water our reclamation plants release is better than storm and other urban runoff now flowing down the canyon.

Even if we did pollute the creek, however, a costly, energy-gobbling pipeline over the Dublin Hill is not the answer. A fresh water line taking South Bay Aquaduct water down the Canyon to Fremont is far better for all.

Such a line exists — the San Francisco Water District's emergency by-pass line. Since the purpose is to percolate fresh water into the Niles Cone, it would be interruptible in case San Francisco needed to pre-empt use during an emergency. Their letter of March 8 does not address such use of that line, and obviously terms would need to be negotiated. It would be far, far cheaper and much, much better to go this route than LAVWMA's costly white elephant.

The week in retrospect

Legislative stage

The session of the State Legislature reconvening Monday in Sacramento promises to be one to watch.

Not so much for the milestone legislation that could come out of the Senate and Assembly chambers, but the jockeying and posturing that will take place as we move toward the "off-year" elections.

Much of the focus will be on the vote on Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Jr's veto of death penalty legislation in the Assembly.

Educators up and down the state are also awaiting the outcome of two funding bills, AB 65 by Leroy Green and SB 525 by Albert Rodda.

These bills are certain to be amongst the first to be dealt with as the Legislature reconvenes for a six-week session.

But there are a multitude of others with either statewide or factional interest.

An indication of the mountain of bills in the Senate and Assembly hoppers can be gleaned by what just one Assemblymen has "going" that being our Valley Assemblymen, Floyd Mori.

Mori authored 36 bills during the last session, ranging from 746, the West Las Positas overcrossing (of Highway 680 through Pleasanton), to 327, defining rape as it might pertain to a woman legally separated from her spouse.

The bill to fund an overcrossing of 680 is presently in the transportation committee while 327 is in the criminal justice committee.

Some of Mori's other pieces of legislation deal with fair employment practices (AB 1010), now in labor, employment and consumer affairs; state taxes (AB 1840), introduced April 26 and now in ways and means; changing the name of the California Job Creation Program to Office of Small Business Affairs (AB 1050), slated for first reading the Senate, and food labeling (AB 1287), in consumer affairs.

Another one, authored by Assemblymen Art Torres of Los Angeles, deserves more than cursory mention as it will soon go before the Senate.

Termed the "junk food bill," it will ban the sale of low-nutritionay foods on school campuses, grades kindergarten through nine.

Torres' bill passed the Assembly by a vote of 58-6. Beside restricting the sale of "low nutritional foods," it would make available alternative nutritious food products in all public high schools.

Low nutritional foods, by definnition of this bill, include carbonated drinks, drinks containing less than 50 per cent full strength fruit juices, candy, candy flavored ice bars and gum with sugar.

The bill does not prohibit the sale of low-nutritioonal food after regular school hours nor in high schools.

We wonder if the latter means that by high school the kids are either too far gone or have developed sound nutritional eating habits!

Anyhow ... this bill and those on the death penalty and education funding have all produced statewide lobbys.

One of the most effective is the one being conducted by state Sen. Bill Richardson, who organized a statewide mailing asking those supporting reinstatement of a death penalty statute to send a card (conveniently enclosed in the mailing) to their Assemblyman.

We long ago returned ours to Assemblyman Mori's office, expressing our support for a vote to override Brown's veto of the legislation by Sen. George Deukmejian. Mori, though, has already stated he would support an override.

The concentration, as stated in these columns last week, must be on those tunnel-vision urban liberals who bend over backwards for the criminal element while ignoring the rights of the law-abiding majority.

Our reference to jockeyinng and posturing at the outset is not stated lightly.

There are much more than the normal number of ambitious people in Sacramento, starting with the Governor.

The ambition transcends party lines and philosophies.

With an army of reporters observing and probing their every move, it is small wonder that the august Senate and Assembly chambers more often resemble a stage.

Sex in Concord?

A few people are picketing an "adult" movie theatre in Concord, I am informed by a story in the Contra Costa Times. The pickets, assisted by a judge and a district attorney, are trying to tell the theatre owner what he can show on his private property.

Aside from the irony of conservative, middle classs property owners trying to do in one of their own, there is the greater philosophical struggle here. The pickets apparently think people — mostly men, all over 18 — will go into this theatre and "be corrupted"." The smut - smiters have a quaint Platonic view of the world, one which had great influence, unfortunately, on Christianity, notably on people like St. Augustine, who felt we were "pure" before birth and got corrupted by life. The smut - smiters have a right to condemn stuff they don't like, but bringing it to the district attorney to force a theatre owner out of business is something else. The district attorney says the theatre owner is maintaining a "greed defense", which shows how lightly the First Amendment is treated in Contra Costa County.

In case the picketers are naive about "adult" movies, let it be known that men who go to see adult movies won't "lose their virtue." It's a harmless enough occupation, and all between the actors, actresses, director, exhibitor and consumer.

Now if these picketers want to talk about government control of the entire economy, and not just the movie business, I would love to talk about it. But I doubt they would be interested, since conservatives like them never acknowledge the connection between economic, social and personal liberation.

The Contra Costa Times has another "sex" story, one discussing rape. A judge in Los Angeles thinks that female hitchhikers invite rape by "showing they are available sexually." What that really shows me is the judge has his own fantasies, right out of a 1940 grade B movie. Connie Russell of National Organization for Women has the judge down pretty well: "The act of hitchhiking is an act of transportation. It is not a social contact situation like a date and it in no way is sexual. If a woman gets on the bus, does the bus driver have the same privilidge?".

The judge's attitude shows why rapes ought to be tried in court as assaults. It would remove the sexual connotationss of the crime and therefore dissolve the accompanying male chauvinist attitudes of the judge and jury members.

Further vestiges of the Old Consciousness of Male Chauvinism that dominates our society were seen in another Times story about sociology major Donna Benson's survey of female graduate students at U.C. Berkeley last year.

Forty - seven of 235 women responding to the survey said instructors had made sexual advances, such as sexual remarks, touching or explicit sexual propositions.

Meanwhile, I shall sit back and wait for the letters to the editor to roll in.

Cards in SRV?

Last Monday on one of those all night movie TV channels, midst the Godless glitter of the Barbary Coast, Jeanette McDonald and the 1906 earthquake shook religion into Clark Gable in the zillionth repeat telecast of the classic, "San Francisco."

Next day some San Ramon homeowners lost a battle to an obscure Contra Costa County ordinance, and now they fear moral bankruptcy like that which shook The City long before the first quake tremor ever struck.

Their trepidation is based in a Board of Supervisors verdict that a Pacheco cardroom operator can legally transfer his licensed business to Old Crow Canyon road here. That's right, poker in River City. With a capital P.

Cards weren't the issue, as far as those protesting homeowners were concerned. What they fear is a migration of shifty characters and shady businessses once the poker room is established.

Law enforcement leaders in Pleasanton and Livermore, two cities experienced with licensed card rooms, said the establishments really cause few problems.

But some merchants located near poker palaces do complain about them.

Now comes the opposition of homeowners, with children and property values to protect.

Are their fears well founded? When the first ace falls, will illicit masssage parlors, purveyers of pornography, even worse, crowd San Ramon? Will we descend into a moral cesspool to be extricated by that latter-day Jeanette McDonald, that Orange Blossom Special, Anita Bryant?

A San Ramon mailman hopes so.

The postman, R.C. Collins, is a misguided 20th century Quixote who tought he'd expose political crooks by running for president. He lost.

He came up for an energy crisis cure by building dams on the seashore. Nobody bought it.

Just after the card room crisis unfolded, the ubiquitous Collins announced his plans to punish residents all over Southern Alameda County for their apathy. How? He mailed requests to U.S. metropolitan centers, asking them to deport the dregs of society. He wants fast-buck artists, smut peddlers, 'skid-row scum,' relocated here, as a lesson to us all.

It seemed as though those card room protesters were denouncing the wrong moral cesspool.

But given his track record, there's little to fear from the self-styled Pied Piper of sin.

Which leaves the Pacheco man's card room as our threat to righteousness. Can it lead to moral decay? Probably not.

For one thing it isn't even the first business in San Ramon catering to earthly pleasures. Right there on the main highway, just off Crow Canyonn Road, is the Wicked Eye, a weathered old bar that in its day has been topless, bottomlesss, and usually customerless. Its presence midst rural ambience has sparked no influx of 'bad business.'

In fact the Wicked Eye is surrounded by a lumber yard, a gravel yard a hardware store and a fire department.

Not enough there for a Robert Preston-type musical tirade. Certainly no fodder for Anita's angels.

It doesn't seem likely, then, that this latest business venture on Old Crow Canyon Road will pitch us into the moral ash can.

But who knows what's in the cards?

round the town

They held a "retirement lunch" for a city employe in Pleasanton the other day, and 150 people showed up. That's really amazing.

It's downright miraculous when you realize the retiree was the city's Chief Building Inspector.

Charles Dobbins is not your typical city bureaucrat. He's not even a good politician. How he survived the Pleasanton growth boom of the 60's and the environmental insurrection of the 70's, without once being threatened with a recall or a referendum, is one of this Valley's great mysteries.

Chuck Dobbins has his own ideas on that.

"I just kept faith with the Lord," he says.

A buildinng inspector who trusts in God?! That's like having a mayor who believes in the virtue of the protest, a police chief who puts all teenagers on the honor system.

Chuck Dobbins came to the building inspection business rather late in life. He came to understand God well before that. Now that he's all through dealing with developers, he intends to go back to the Lord.

"My real joy is in service to my creator," he says, simply, sincerely.

If the developers who hammered Pleasanton throughout the Soaring Sixties had known that, they would have stopped trying to woo him with wine, and turned instead to scripture to win over the city's chief building sleuth.

"Upon this rock you shall build my church ..." If the builders of homes and gas stations had known that was Charles Dobbins' code, they would have started bringing their plans to Sunday services, rather than sneaking them into Hap's Bar, after the Monday night council confab.

Chuck Dobbins wasn't Pleasanton's first chief building inspector. But he was the friendliest, the best spoken, the easiest to get along with.

Until you tried to build a house on five - foot centers, or speed up the nails with a little grease.

"Do unto others," CBI Dobbins would say, advising the builder to find the error of his ways. If that didn't work, Dobbins simply ordered the builder to tear it down and start all over.

I used to keep in close touch with Chuck Dobbins, in those days of our once - a - week newspaper occurence, when every new building permit was big news.

"No permits for new homes this week," Chuck would announce, sadly, "but we did have five backyard pools and a car port." He never hung up without giving e something.

Later, when they would build nine new dwellings almost every working day in Pleasanton, Chuck Dobbins would find himself in the center of the news. Sometimes he even made it. But he never once tried to distort it.

At his retirement lunch, at Hap's Restaurant, all of his co -workers turned out, and the city council, and a score of building inspectors from neighboring cities and nearby counties. There were also a few developers there, the few that still survive in the Anti Growth Era. Even some of those who are no longer in the busineess, not here anyway, came to Chuck Dobbins' retirement luncheon.

There were the usual tiresome speeches, citations and gifts. People who never made a speech before, spent five minutes telling us how they'd never made a speech before, but they'd still try.

Then Mrs. Dobbins took over. She talked about her love for the community, the people, her husband. And she talked about her love for the Lord..

And then Chuck spoke. About his good experiences here. About the people he served, even including the builders. And no one accused him of being bought off. There was no one to suggest he be driven from office.

He's leaving of his own choice. To return to his other calling. To work with his wife in service to God, and to those in need.

There are a few thousand families living in comfortable homes in Pleasanton right now who owe a great deal to Charles Dobbins. If the place is sound, if the fireplace hasn't settled, if the front door closes snugly ... it's thanks to the city's chief building inspector and his crew.

And if the place is up for sale right now at $96,000, just three times what you paid for it ten years ago, then the city building inspector had a hand in that, too.

"My wife and my God got me into this business in the first place," Chuck said, "and now it's time I gave something back to both of them."

A builder who always knew he was subject to another, more powerful creator. That's Charles B. Dobbins. It may be quite a while before we see another like him.

"Dear President Carter: About your new welfare reform legislation, or LACK thereof, vis-a-vis vagabonds . . ."

Dr. Joyce Brothers

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My husband wants me to play tennis with him but while I enjoy playing with my friends, the moment I get on the court with my husband he insults me. Our day, I refused to play with him so the rest of the day he teased me in front of friends. When I ask him why he embarrasses me in this way, he accuses me of being a bad sport who can't take kidding. It seems to me I'm in trouble if I don't play with him and if I do. — J.D.

DEAR J.D.: I think you ought to try to work out your love match away from the courts with a long conversation, using words to explore and understand each other's problems.

Too many couples think a talk means scoring points and winning decisions. This isn't the name of the communication's game. At least, it shouldn't be. As long as each of you builds a wall of defense around yourself one of you is more apt to end up being aggressive, rather than open. This doesn't lead to improved relations, only to a continuation of the same old problems.

Not surprisingly, hostilities that exist in your marriage may come out in the open on the tennis court. If they were out in the open at home, and analyzed, they'd be less apt to intrude on your tennis game.

Dr. Herbert Hendin, psychiatrist, says when you watch a couple play mixed doubles you can almost know whether they should stay together. Tennis is a sport in which American domestic hopes and problems converge and conflict. It reveals those double - fault lines in American marriage — a want of kindness and a shortage of manners.

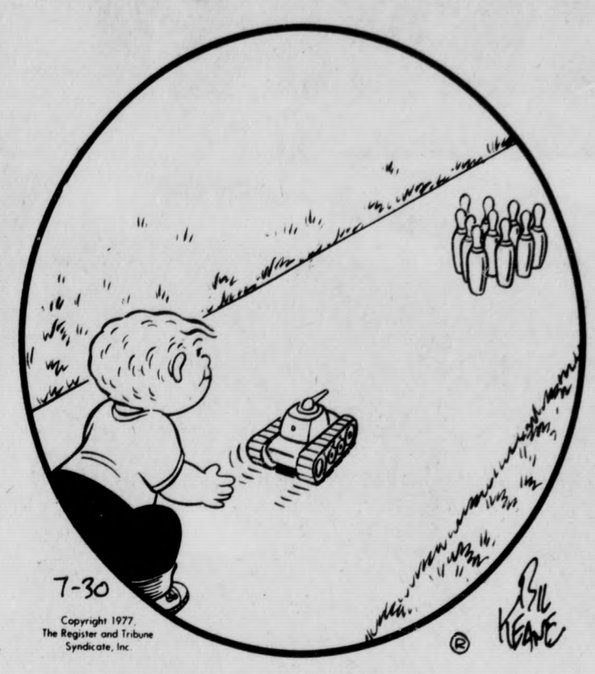

Talk with your husband at home and ask him to figure out why he chooses the court to be insulting. If he continues his behavior on the court, walk off the moment he begins. Remind him that kidding and teasing can be a coward's way of attacking. He's afraid to talk out his anger directly so he chooses an indirect approach.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I'm interested in a sports career and my coach says I'm off to a good start. I don't mean to brag, but I am pursued by very good -looking gals. If I took time for one - third of them my career would go down the drain. It's not that I don't like girls, but I'd like to put them off until I get set with a pro team. I feel sex and work (and that's what football is to me) don't go together, at least not for now. My friends are making me feel creepy, but that's the way I see it. I don't want to waste my energy or throw it away. Am I wrong? — S.K.

DEAR S. K.: I'm afraid you may be. Studies indicate that sex doesn't decrease a person's capacity or ability to work. However, it's possible that you have some unsolved inhibitions about sex that could produce tension and anxiety. So, your decision may be right for you. Don't worry about feeling "creepy" because of what others say. The important thing is to make sure you're right with yourself.

If you have unresolved problems, and I suspect you do, it's important not to keep putting them aside and making excuses to cover or disguise them.

SIDE GLANCES by Gill Fox

"It says this is the last issue of my home town paper. My home town just became a shopping center!"

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

If you ever lived near a pond, then you are sure to have heard the croaking of frogs on warm, damp evenings during spring and summer.

The croaking or singing is produced by the male frog. The chief reason he is singing is to attract the female frog.

Male frogs are equipped with special vocal sacs on their throats. When calling, the male frog inhales, closes his mouth and forces the air back and forth several times between the lungs and this special vocal sac.

Each time, it passes through the voice box in the frog's throat and produces a loud croaking sound.

Each species of frog has its own call, which the female can distinguish from the songs of other kinds of frogs in the pond.

The ears of frogs show as big circles of skin just behind their bulging eyes. The circles of skin are flat eardrums, called tympanic membranes, and they transmit sound vibrations to the inner ear.

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am very worried about my husband. He is only 44 and seems to be in fairly good health but he drinks entirely too much. I've tried to tell him that it is damaging his body but he just won't pay any attention to me.

He often has a couple of cocktails for lunch. Then when he gets home he has a couple of drinks before dinner. After dinner he sits around and has a drink about every hour until he goes to bed around 11 p.m. He says if you don't drink more than one drink an hour that it won't hurt you. I don't believe that.

Will this cause him to have a bad liver? What are the signs of a damaged liver? What can he do to prevent liver damage? I know people get yellow jaundice when their liver is bad but isn't there some other sign before then that would warn him before it is too late.

I really love my husband in spite of his drinking and would hate to see anything happen to him. Anything you can tell me would be greatly appreciated. Also if you have any information on the liver that you could send me that would help.

DEAR READER — Your husband has an alcohol problem whether he wants to admit it or not. I hope he will talk to his doctor about this. You can help by making him face reality and recognize that he does have a problem.

Regarding signs of liver damage, they are hard to pick up unless you are trained to do so. I am sending you The Health Letter number 7-8, Living With Your Liver to give you the information you requested. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to Post Office Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

You have every right to be concerned. In 1973, cirrhosis (scarring and damage) of the liver was the fourth most common cause of death in men between the ages of 35 and 54 and about 60 per cent of these were caused from excess use of alcohol.

It helps to be sure your husband gets a good diet with plenty of vitamins and protein.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be willing to serve if called on today. You may be reluctant, but you could get back gallons of gain from a pint of perspiration.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You're popular, charismatic and well-received today. If you have the chance to hobnob with people you want to impress, by all means do so.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.22) Keep some strength in reserve in any situation today. You may never have to use it, but you'll be glad to know it's there.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's important today to acknowledge and praise those who do good works. You'll be a public relations man for yourself that none can equal.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You never shirk duties nor do you look for a free ride. This will stand you in good stead today. Rewards for these qualities have been magnified.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be lighthearted and happy in your involvements today. That's your ticket to getting it all together. It's easier to smile than to furrow your brow.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This is one of those days when good things happen provided you don't make waves. Sit back and harvest the seeds you so carefully planted.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Get out and circulate today. It's important to be around people you like. The bigger the crowd, the more you'll enjoy it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're lucky today in ways that could further your career or put bucks in the bank. To take advantage, you must be able to recognize opportunity's knock.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A king-sized idea may pop into your head today and you might dismiss it because of its scope. Don't — there's a good reason why it is there.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) One for whom you've done things may want to return the favor today, but you'll think it's too much. To refuse would deprive him of deserved pleasure.

One of the most important parts of slam bidding is the slam invitation. If you can invite a slam without going past game and then stop at game you are far better off than the man who gets into the twilight zone between game and slam and then winds up down one at a five-heart or five-spade contract.

The ace-king rule comes in mighty handy here. You find yourself with an extra ace or king opposite a partner who is taking you to game. You don't have enough to want to go past game, but you sure want to find a way to tell your partner about slam interest.

South can take the ace of clubs out of his hand and still have a proper one-spade response. So when North jumps to three spades, South shows his slam interest by bidding four clubs. With no slam interest he would just bid four spades.

North likes his hand and proceeds to show his like for it by his four-diamond call. Again, with no slam interest he would simply go to four spades. Now South looks at his three little hearts and decides that he has gone far enough. He does bid four spades.

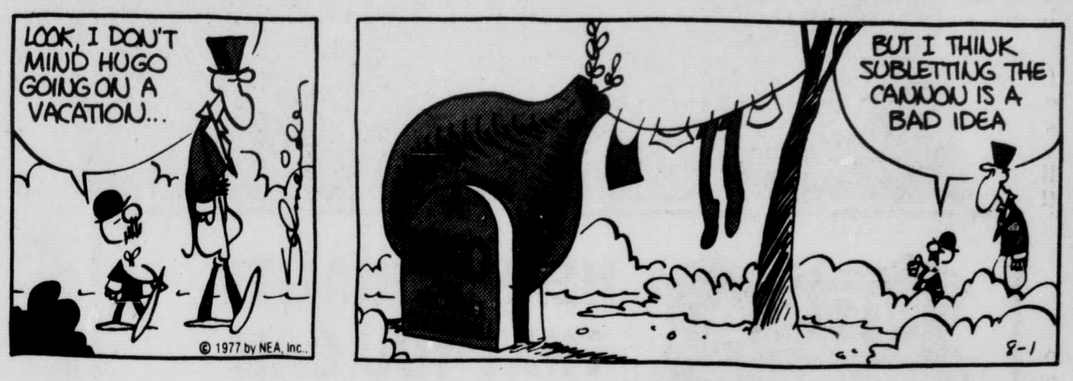

The bad trump break makes five spades an impossible contract. In fact South must play very carefully to make four.

Several readers have asked us what we think of the Gerber four-club convention.

We use it as an adjunct to Blackwood, but know that it is inferior when used as your only ace asking bid.

Livermore loses BR finals

SONOMA — Livermore and Vallejo played see-saw in the Northern California Babe Ruth championships here yesterday, but it tipped on Vallejo's side the final time.

After Livermore forced a doubleheader by taking an opening-game 5-4 win and knocking Vallejo from the undefeated ranks, the North Bay gang rallied behind the three-run home run of Ricky Campo in the fourth inning and and held on to post a 12-11 win over the locals and advance to next week's Western Regionals in Yuma, Arizona.

Livermore took a quick 2-0 lead in the second contest, but Vallejo battled back for five runs in the first for a 5-2 advantage. However, a two-run single by Jeff Hoffman highlighted a five-run second inning for Livermore as they raced back into a 7-5 lead.

But Campo's nome run in the fourth climaxed a four-run inning for Vallejo, which took a 10-7 lead on the 375-foot blast over the left-field fence and scored single runs in the fifth and sixth without getting a hit. Livermore scored two runs in each of the sixth and seventh innings as Carl Dice doubled and singled and Hoffman singled twice, but it was too little, too late.

Jeff Hoffman slapped a single through the hole in right field to give Livermore a 5-4 come-from-behind win over Vallejo in yesterday's first game.

It was the first time the locals had even led during the entire contest, having trailed by scores of 2-0, 2-1, 4-1, and 4-3 before finally scoring a pair in the bottom of the seventh to force a doubleheader. Pinchitter Jack Trudeau started the last-inning rally with a walk, while Greg Bruce drew a base on balls after Terry Jacob struck out. A wild pitch by Vallejo reliever Ricky Smith — their third pitcher of the contest — moved the runners along to second and third, setting the stage for Carl Dice's single to left which scored Trudeau to tie the game at 4-4.

After Terry Tennyson struck out for the second out, Hoffman poked his game-winner to score Bruce from third.

Vallejo took a 2-0 lead with single runs in the first and second inning.

A walk served up by winning pitcher Kevin Johns to Troy Easterwood and a double by Randy Smith provided the first inning run, while singles by Danny Kistle, Ricky Smith and losing pitcher Tom McClanahan gave Vallejo their second inning run.

Johns helped himself out in the second inning, driving in a run with a sacrifice fly to centerfield after Hoffman doubled and went to third on an error.

Vallejo scored twice in the third as Kevin Traveler singled, and Easterwood walked, both runners moving to second and third on a wild pitch. One out later, Ricky Campo singled home both runs with a sharp hit up the middle.

Johns settled down to retire Vallejo without a run the next four innings, allowing only a inning double by Randy Smith as their lone hit.

Livermore was handed two runs in the fifth by Vallejo. Pat Fallon led off the two-run rally with a pinch hit double down the left field line, while Terry Jacob singled sharply to center, Fallon stopping at third. However, the throw got away from the infield and Fallon scampered home with Jacob going to third. Jacob came home when pitcher Mike Evans, who relieved McClanahan in the fourth inning, overthrew third on an attempted pickoff play.

Apparently a local brush fire, which had scores of Sonoma fire trucks and fireplanes heading to the smokey site adjacent to Arnold Field, lite the locals' own fire. When the last flames of the fire were finally extingished and flames stopped hovering over the diamond in the fourth inning Livermore finally got going to take the hard-earned victory.

'Quakes win in overtime

LOS ANGELES — Paul Child scored four minutes into a sudden death overtime Saturday afternoon to give the San Jose Earthquakes a 3-2 North American Soccer League victory over the Los Angeles Aztecs before 5,997 at the L.A. Coliseum.

San Jose evened its season record at 12-12 with the victory. Los Angeles dropped to 14-10.

The Earthquakes took a 1-0 lead at 27:23 when Los Angeles defender Ron Davies unintentionally kicked the ball into the upper corner of the Aztecs' goal.

Los Angeles tied the game at 53:25 on a goal by Steve David, the NASL's leading scorer. George Best was credited with an assist.

The Earthquakes made it 2-1 at 58:26 when Leroy De Leon scored with an assist from Ilija Mitic. Best tied the game again shortly later with assists from Davies and David.

David's goal and assist gives him 58 points for the season. Best's assist was his 17th, one short of the NASL record of 18 set by Pele in 1976.

Phils' power sinks Giants

PHILADELPHIA — Greg Luzinski hit a grand slam home run in the eighth inning and Richie Hebner's two-run homer keyed a three-run third inning as the Philadelphia Phillies posted a 9-3 victory over the San Francisco Giants Saturday night.

Luzinski's seventh career grand slam, over the 408-foot sign in center field, came after Jay Johnstone tripled and Larry Bowa and Mike Schmidt walked. Garry Maddox also hit his second triple of the game and scored on a sacrifice fly in the eighth.

The Phillies trailed 3-1 when Luzinski led off the third with a single. Hebner then socked his 12th homer to tie the game. After one out, Tim McCarver doubled and Ted Sizemore singled across the lead run.

The Giants had a big chance to tie it in the eighth off reliever Gene Garber, who replaced Carlton after the sixth.

Pinch hitter Gary Thomasson led off the eighth with a triple. But Rob Andrews grounded out, Thomasson holding third. Thomasson was then picked off when a squeeze play misfired. Thomas grounded out to end the inning.

Garber gave up one hit in three innings of relief and earned his seventh save.

The Giants' only hit off Carlton and Garber after the second inning was Thomasson's triple in the eighth.

The Phillies wasted a number of early opportunities, as the Giants took a 3-0 lead.

In the first, Jay Johnstone led off with a walk but was doubled up when he ran almost all the way to second on a short fly to right field by Larry Bowa. Maddox tripled with two down in the second inning but was left stranded.

In the third, opened with a single and raced to third on a single by Carlton. However, Johnstone grounded into a double play. Bowa followed with a single and Mike Schmidt, in the throes of a 2- for-21 slump, popped out.

After touching Carlton for three runs on just two hits — he walked three — the Giants did not get a hit off the Phillies' left-hander in the last four innings he pitched. Only Jack Clark, with a walk, reached base.

CC outlucks District 57

NEWARK — Luck is a vital part of any athletic team's chances when it seeks a championship.

In the Sectional Big League tournament held here this past week Central Coast had plenty of that commonity and District 57 American did not.

That, in a nutshell is why Central Coast reigns as the Sectional champion after edging District 57 American 5-4 yesterday at Newark High School here yesterday.

The winners only had four hits compared to seven for the valley team but stole three bases and survived a couple of costly errors to secure the victory.

It was the second time in the tournament the two days had met. In the first game Central Coast also prevailed, 8-7, playing the same kind of ball it did yesterday, good defense, baserunning and some timely hitting.

But the big difference yesterday was the impressive performance of Central Coast pitcher Jim Roslund. Roslund went the distance and besides allowing the seven hits, fanned eight batters, only walked four and fought his way out of a couple tight squeezes.

The victors struck first, scoring three times in the second inning despite getting just one hit.

Third baseman George Ralston opened the inning with a walk, and Dick Deathridge did the same. Catcher Don Kokeldox layed down a perfect sacrifce bunt to advance both runners and Ralston scored when Chris Metzger hit a hard shot past starting American hurler Eric Austad who fired it home a trifle too late to catch the runner. Left fielder Bob Elmendorf then pounded a double to centerfield to score Deathridge and Metzger.

However, District 57 refused to quit and came back with a big four-run rally in the third to take a brief 4-3 lead.

Mark Silva led off witha ground out but Bret Cary singled and Kevin Jones walked. Steve Jayko then slammed a base hit to score Cary and Chuck Cary added a single.

Larry Walters hit a grounder to shortstop Ron Lopes who threw too late to third to get Jayko. After John Peters struck out Lopes threw the ball away on Kevin Kragen's grounder and Jayko and Chuck Cary came in to score.

But the Central Coast nine came right back with two runs in the fourth to nail down the victory.

Kokeldox led off with a walk but Metzger poped one up to Chuck Cary at first base.

However, Jeff Smith singled and Roslund walked to load the bases.

At that point Bret Cary replaced Austad at pitcher.

However, Elmendorf greeted the California High School star with a single to centerfield to score Kokeldox. Lopes then hit a sacrifice right to right field to score Smith with the winning run.

District 57 threw a scare into Roslund in the top of the seventh.

Jayko led off with a single up the middle but Chuck Cary forced him at second on a pop-up which fell near the second base bag. Lopes picked the ball up and tagged the bag for the first out. Walters then walked but Peters flied out to center. Kragen kept things alive for the losers by gaining the third walk of the inning but Austad, who was switched to right field, received a caled third strike to end the contest.

Central Coast thus earned the right to advance to the Northern California Divisional championships.

A's Mitchell Page is tagged out by Yank catcher Fran Healy as he tries to score in second inning.

Reggie provides the spark as Yankees overpower A's

OAKLAND — Reggie Jackson thumbed his bat at Charlie Finley, stuck his tongue out at the media, Paul Mitchell was roughed up again and the Oakland A's lost a 9-3 decision to the New York Yankees.

The foregoing all occurred in front of a thoroughly entertained — and sunbaked — crowd of 9573 at the Coliseum yesterday afternoon.

Over the course of the full nine innings, Jackson was less than spectacular, going one-for-five and harmlessly misplaying a couple of singles hit his way.

But it was Reggie who gave the Yankees a lead that was never overcome by the A's, who were outhit, 14-9. Jackson became the first base runner of the game when his low liner to left center cleared the 375-foot sign and caromed off the front wall of the bleachers for his 18th home run of the season.

It was also Jackson's 299th career four-bagger, setting up one of those "milestones" that seem to occur every few yards in baseball the next time he hits one out.

"It felt good," said Jackson when asked about hitting one out in his old stomping grounds for the first time since switching allegiance to the Big Apple. But, Jackson, who still resides in Berkeley, took a few swings at the media attention he says is the cause of the Yanks celebrated internal problems.

"In New York you've got 25 tv stations and all kinds of newspapers," he pointed out. "After a game you go in and there's 50 reporters with note books and another 25 cameramen waiting in the clubhouse."

Their presence could hardly bother Reggie, who eats up attention like the rest of us down bread and butter. It's the reports they give that Reggie says are more the cause of rifts on the Yankees than the apparent feuds between himself and Thurman Munson and/or manager Billy Martin.

"I think it's sad that people will take apart 25 human beings just to sell papers," Jackson complained, "I can just hear people saying, 'hey, turn on channel nine, so-and-so's knocking what's-his-name.'"

Meanwhile, Martin, treating the writers who travel with the Yankees with increasing reticence and occasional belligerence was barely audible as answered questions in the Yankee locker room. Yet, what could be heard was painful truth to the A's.

"We're getting some timely hits," said Martin, and it was so.

After Jackson's homer and a third inning blast by Roy White, New York scored its remaining runs in clumps of four and three during the fifth and eighth innings, stringing together three hits in the fifth and five in the eighth.

It was in the eighth that Mitchell, the valley's lone major leaguer and a man who is a serious threat to George Brunet 's Quick Changes of Uniform, Major and Minor Leagues record, was met again by what could, charitably, be labeled, limited success.

His confidence shaken by a series of manipulations by A's owner Charlie Finley that has seen him playing for Oakland, San Jose, Chatanooga, Oakland again, San Jose again and Oakland again again, Mitchell yielded seven hits in one and one-third innings of mop-up work before being replaced by Doug Bair.

Oakland scored one run in each of the third, sixth and eighth innings.

Manny Sanguillen broke an 0-for-23 slump with a third inning double to put the A's on the board and Mitchell Page's 13th home run of the season led off the fifth. Sanguillen singled in the eighth and was removed for pinch-runner Rodney Scott.

Scott reached third on a single by Page and scored on Wayne Gross ground ball to first base. Page is now hitting .443 in his last 14 games.

Don Gullet (9-4) got the win for the A's in his second win in as many American League appearances against the A's. His only non-winning assignment against Oakland was a no-decision in the 1972 World Series.

Rick Langford started for Oakland and lost to be 7-12.

Granada releases winter keg schedule

The Granada Bowl in Livermore has just released its new 1977-78 Winter League bowling schedule for valley residents.

There are 77 leagues to choose from with 23 daytime league and 44 loops in the evening.

The Granada Bowl, newly remodeled and expanded to 32 lanes, features leagues for the entire family every day of the week.

Free coffee and babysitting will be given to the day leagues as well as the night leagues for the latter.

Interested persons may sign up at Granada Bowl, 1620 Railroad Avenue, Livermore or call 447-5600.

Monzon wins by decision

MONTE CARLO — Carlos Monzon got up from a second-round knockdown Saturday night and outpointed Rodrigo Valdes in what the Argentine said was the last fight of his seven-year reign as world middleweight champion.

The victory for Monzon, in his 14th title defense, was a unanimous 15-round decision. The judges and referee each gave the champion clear margins although Valdes started fast, took the fight to the Monzon in the middle rounds, and then closed with a flurry.

It was the 82nd fight without a loss for Monzon, dating back to 1964. There have been nine draws in the string.

Monzon, who will be 35 Aug. 7, owed the victory to a spurt in the ninth, 10th and 11th rounds when he seemed to change gears after a sluggish start and battered the Colombian challenge.

In the ninth round Monzon fired a strong right hand to Valdes' head, jerking it back. A series of strong rights followed.

The 10th followed the same pattern. After taking a series of punches from both hands, Valdes began wobbling in the center of the ring. One short right opened a deep cut over the Colombian's eye and Monzon appeared close to stopping Valdes.

But the advantage slipped away in the 11th round. Monzon was still able to reach Valdes' head, but he never again had Valdes in trouble.

Top sprint racers ready at Altamont

Open wheel sprint car racing returns to Altamont Speedway tonight.

For the seventh time this season the Northern Auto Racing Club will be waved off the starting line at Altamont with the 600 horsepower sprinters reaching speeds of more than 130 miles an hour on the fast-paved half-mile oval.

A full field of entries are expected as race promoters have posted a $3,500 purse that could pull in car owners from all parts of the west coast and Nevada.

Leading the lst of entries is last year's defending NARC champion Johnny Anderson of Sacramento. Anderson, who has competed with the United States Auto Club in the past, will be driving the potent Don Snow sprinter out of Pinole. The Sacramento veteran will be making his second altamont start of the season.

The twi-light competition get" started at 5 p.m. with qualifying and the racing set for 6 p.m.

Three previous Altamont winners are entered for today's show. Current NARC point leader Leroy Van COnnett of Galt is rated a strong favorite. The other Altamont winners are Ron Horton of Concord and Sacramento's Randy Boldrini. Horton won two weeks ago and Boldrini captured the recent four-race Shasta Classic.

Drivers will be battling for the 20 starting spots for the 25-lap main event with the winner tickted for a $1,000 pay day.

Anderson, who piloted the Snor car eaAlier this season at Phoenix for one of his most satisfying victories, is also rated a strong contender for the championship prize money.

PJFL holds contest

Pleasanton Junior Football League will holds its second annual Tri-Valley Punt, Pass, Kick and Run Contest Saturday from noon to 4 p.m., on Saturday, August 20 from noon and Monday August 22, from 5:30 p.m. until 8 o.m. at the Val Vista Recreation Center in Pleasanton.

The contest is open to all valley youths born after November 30, 1961. Trophies will be awarded in each of 10 age-weight classifications. The 10 classifications winners will become eligible for the drawing of the grand prize, an Oakland Raider autographed football, tickets to a Raider game, or similar item.

Okker, Nastase meet in Gater-Los Angeles match

OAKLAND — Tom Okker was very casual when asked about his meeting with the Los Angeles Strings tomorrow night here at the Coliseum.

Some people might wonder why. Actually, the Golden Gaters star might not even get the chance to complete more than a couple of sets.

He will be at the opposite end of the court from the Jeckel and Hyde personalty of Ilie Nastase when the two compete in men's singles. Okker said that he is challenged the notorious Nastase 30 times in the last 11 years with relatively few problems.

"I don't think it bothers the team too much either. He argues quite a bit but that brings out the people too," Okker explained.

The Strings were to originally appear on July 21. But Nastase was unable to be there and the match was rescheduled.

Okker said he and his teammates, rather than being upset by the switch that was caused by one colorful character, had to acknowedge the benefits.

"It's better, really. There's more fans out there cheering. I don't mind a bit," he said realistically.

"The name and reputation of Nastase, appears to back up Okker's preictions that he, (Nastase) is a magnatic attractor for crowds.

The Gaters are expecting there largest crowd attendance of the season. An additional 3,700 tickets had been sold by Friday. The total estimate expected is close to 8,000. According to the Gaters' office there are still some tickets available. The action gets underway at 7:30 p.m.

Gilder, McGee fire 65s, tied for Classic lead

PHILADELPHIA — Jerry McGee and Bob Gilder, playing in the same group and laughing and joking all the way, matched six - under - par 65s and moved into a tie for the third-round lead Saturday in the $200,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic.

"It's a lot of fun playing in a group like that, where everybody is making birdies," said the 26 - year - old Gilder, winner of the Phoenix Open a year ago. "Everybody was loose and easy, relaxed, joking, just having a good time out there. It was a lot of fun."

They finished with matching 54-hole totals of 203, 10 under par on the Whitemarsh Valley Country Club course, a tight little 6,687-yard layout that was dampened by overnight rains.

The third member of their group was Bill Rogers, who had a 66 and goes into today's final round just one shot back at 204.

"Jerry and Bob both had real fine first nines and I was just kind of hanging around getting in the way, then I kind of got my little thing going on the back nine," said the chipper Rogers, who played that side in 31. "Man, that's really fun to be in something like that."

In all, the threesome accounted for 19 birdies.

New Zealand's John Lister, who made eagle two when he holed out from the left rough on his second shot of the cool, cloudy day, had a share of the lead until he bogeyed the 17th hole. The lanky Lister hit a spectator with his drive and was short of the green in two. He finished with a 69 and was tied with Gilder one stroke off the pace at 204.

It was two more strokes back to the next man, little Rod Curl, who played his back nine in a spectacular 29 that closed out a 65 and put him at 206.

U. S. Open champ Hubert Green birdied his last hole for a 67 and a tie at 207 with Bob Murphy and Grier Jones, each of whom shot a 69.

Tom Kite, the defending champion and tied with Lister for the 36-hole lead, struggled to a 74 that left him at 209.

Ray Floyd, a two-time winner this season, could do no better than 72 and was a distant eight strokes back at 211.

Asian Emperor surprises field

Asian Emperor, a newcomer to the fair circuit from Hollywood Park, outclassed eight older rivals in scoring a convincing two length victory in the $10,000 Fair Directors Purse yesterday at Bay Meadows.

Taking the lead at the start of the mile and a sixteenth Allowance Affair, the three year old Florida bred son of More Asian made every pole a winning one in his "Laugher." His foes were from one to four years older.

Royal Physician finished second after tracking the winner from start to finish, with the Argentine Invader, Persiball, third and Rose's Knight a well beaten fourth.

Bill Mahorney sent Asian Emperor to the front at the start and at not point was he seriously menaced.

Time for the mile and a sixteenth was 1.43 4/5 and Asian Emperor paid $4.40 as the favorite of a warm crowd of 12,857.

The winner picked up a check for $5500 for his efforts, while establishing himself as one of the choices for next Friday's $15,000 added San Mateo Sophomore Stakes.

In humbling his eight elders, the smooth going Chestnut was posting his fourth triumph of 1977, while boosting his lifetime earnings to $37,880. Two of his previous victories this year came at Hollywood Park, with the other at Hialeah Park in his native Florida.

The meeting moves into its second and final week tomorrow, with five stakes events to be contested over the final five days.

Four of the features offer purses of $15,000 added, with the big race of the season, the $25,000 added San Matean Handicap, highlighting Saturday's Getaway Day Program.

Men's softball

Freitas' power tops Matador

Freitas Moving outslugged Matador Lounge 15-11 in a Livermore Recreation men's B League softball game recently.

The winners jumped off to a 4-1 advantage after the first inning and added four more in the third and six in the fourth.

Bob Banchsro's double and two Matador errors were the key plays in the first inning.

Banchsro also smashed a home run in the third with Jim McDonald on. McDonald had belted a triple. After Banchsro's smash Jerry Tassisuit followed with a home run of his own.

Bob Landon added the winners' third home run in the fourth to lead off the inning. A single by Mark Babanc, two errors, a walk and a single by Bob Senc scored the other Freitas runs in the inning.

Landon added a single as did Rick York in the finals inning for the winners.

Kavanagh Liquors rolled over Nazarene Church 10-5.

Five straight singles in the first inning scored four runs for the winners.

Kavanagh added three more in the second. John Bishop opened with a single, Garry Gonsalves followed with anther one-bagger and Jim McClude had a single before Glen Fuller smashed a three-run double.

The winners belted 19 hits to 12 for Nazarane Church. Chuck Boswell had a double and two singles for the losers. Mike Dally added three singles. Nazarene scored twice in the third and three times in the sixth.

The O Zones smashed Sadler & Turner 13-1.

An eight-run spurt in the first inning was all the winners needed. Jeff Cougar had two home runs and four RBI's for the victors.

Cary Egan added three hits as did Jim Harper. Egan had a double in the first to open the contest. The winners added five more tallies in the third, led by Ken Stayton's home run. The O-Zones clubbed 20 hits to eight for the losers.

Sadler & Turner scored its only tally in the first stanza.

After Bob Withers grounded out Fred Emerson singled and Guy Williams followed suit. A fly-out and Glenn Taylor's single scored Emerson with the Sadler run.

Tim Jenkins and rick Reif each had two hits for the losers.

Keith Texeria led the O-Zones with four hits and Egan and Mark McGowery each added three. Cougar scored twice.

Tom Pierce and Andy Lewis also had two hits apiece for the winners.

Smorga Bobs took a forfeit victory over the Godfathers.

The losers opened the first inning in fashion before forfeiting the game. Fred Soto walked and Manual Martin, Dick Herbert and Fred Montoya each singled. But it was all for naught.

Baseliners edge past Aces, 6-3

The Pleasanton Baseliners took a 6-3 decision over the Pleasanton Aces in Junior Davis Cup Under-12 action recently.

In the top-seeded match Steve Carter of the Aces took a 6-7, 6-4, 7-5 victory over the Baseliners' Vince Paolini.

However, the Baseliners took the rest of the singles matches to cinch the competition.

Second-seeded Matt Duffy of the Baseliners toppled Brian Warman, 7-5, 7-6 and Todd Trimble defeated the Aces' Jeff Hales 6-2, 6-2. Doug Ryan, Sam Gilbert and Sean Salisbury were the other singles winners for the Baseliners.

The Aces took two of the doubles sets. Carter and David Irish defeated Paolini and Gilbert, 7-5, 5-7, 7-6 in the first set. Kevin Kern and Conrad Chun of the Aces defeated Andy Gottesman and Chris Smith, 6-3, 6-3.

Ryan and Salisbury captured the second doubles match, 6-1, 6-3 over Jim Nash and Scott Gottesman.

A playoff between the Aces and Baseliners will be held Thursday to determine who meets the Contra Costa division winners at the end of the month.

Baseliners 6, Aces 3

Singles — Steve Carter, A, d. Vince Paolini, 6-7 (3-5), 6-4, 7-5; Matt Duffy, B, d. Brian Warman, 7-5, 7-6 (5-2); Todd Trimble, B, d. Jeff Hales, 6-2, 6-2; Doug Ryan, B, d. Ken Barker, 7-5, 6-1; Sam Gilbert, B, d. Kevin Ryan, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1; Sean Salisbury, B, d. Jurgen Ruttke, 6-3, 6-4.

Doubles — Steve Carter and David Irish, A, d. Vince Paolini and Sam Gilbert, 7-5, 5-7, 7-6 (5-4); Doug Ryan and Sean Salisbury, B, d. Jim Nash and Scott Gottesman, 6-1, 6-3; Kevin Kern and Conrad Chun, A, d. Andy Gottesman and Chris Smith, 6-3, 6-3.

Pizza Arcade romps

Pizza Arcade scored six times in the seventh inning to highlight a 10-1 victory over C & C Beauty in Livermore Recreation women's softball action.

Four singles, two errors and Lari Miller's double accounted for the six runs.

Before the big inning Pizza had already taken a 4-1 advantage.

The winners scored twice in the first and twice in the fifth. C & C Beauty scored its only run in the sixth.

Miller, Mary Framble and Nettie Pieblo each had two hits for the winners.

Kavanagh Liquors toppled Leon's Libbers 10-7, scoring nine times in the last two innings.

Leon's led 6-1 entering the sixth frame but the winners exploded for eight hits and took advantage of two errors in scoring the nine runs.

Julie Kavanagh, Pam Forsberg and Jan Monica each had two hits for the winners. Kavanagh and Forsberg each scored twice.

Peggy Dix and Kathi Terio each had two hits for the losers.

The winners had 12 hits and the losers eight.

Bob's Babes took a 5-1 lead after two innings and coasted to a 7-3 win over Irby's Milkstore.

Mary Ann Backley, Lyla Trissell and Tracy Villar each had two hits for the winners. Frances Way and Betty Ogden each belted two hits for Irby's.

In more recent action, American Pools drowned LLL, 12-10, via a four-run rally in the last of the sixth.

Kathy Deaton had two singles for the winners while Jill Suico singled, Linda Midtun singled twice, Ann Cobal singled, Cheryl Howe tripled twice and singled and Brenda Hill singled.

For LLL, Doris Watts singled twice in the lead-off spot, Sue King rapped a trio of one-baggers, Margaret Manchester laced a single, Estell Salims cracked a single, Linda Feil singled, Athena Brown pounded out a pair of singles, Joanne Rodrigues singled twice, Jackie King whacked a single and right fielder Carol Perry drilled a single.

Normandy Hair Designs turned VMH's D-day into a Waterloo with a 11-2 trouncing.

Lead-off batter Sheryl Silva opened things up with three hits for the designers while Carol Bitano sngled, Diane Esquibel singled three times, Marti Tompkins rapped a hit, Colleen Moynahan singled, Terri Gonzales singled twice, Eileen Patino singled twice, Sandy Lombaren doubled and Sandy Esquibel singled.

For the defeated VMH, Bev Glasser singled twice, Diane Campuzano cracked two singles, Valarie Carghian singled, Mary Fitzsimmons singled, Sandy Carson singled and Shirley Nielson singled.

Mutual Service Insurance wrapped up the day's activities by claiming a 19-9 win over The Lounge.

Monique Hielckert doubled, Barbara Cosgrove singled three times, Barbara Correa singled twice, Lennia Cook had two hits, Diana Word doubled and singled, Rosie Llamado singled three times, Jeanette Mealey singled, Jessica Wasson singled twice and Elizabeth Fortan singled for the winners.

For The Lounge, Jerry Kane singled twice and tripled, Sue Mack tripled, Linda Chapman singled twice, Pat Jacobson singled and Marion Barrowcliff singled.

Buying a home — it's probably the biggest investment a young couple will make, and in Contra Costa County it's getting harder and harder for people to arrange for that dream place.

For many, home is still a dream

By CHRIS WESTPHAL
Times Staff Writer

WALNUT CREEK — "If young people had their priorities in order, a lot more of them could be buying houses," says Vi Simplicio, president of Sonoma Mortgage Service Company.

Simplicio joins many other Contra Costra realtors who believe young couples and singles should "buy the home first, then the boats, motorycycles and the like."

But how many would-be homeowners can afford a house in central Contra Costa County?

According to Tom Murphy of the Contra Costa Board of Realtors, the average price for a home in central Contra Costa is now $77,000.

And prices are going up.

County assessor's records show that the value of a single-family home has increased more than 100 per cent from an average 1971 price of $37,200.

Where will it end?

The sad fact is, it probably won't end.

However, Simplicio, Murphy and Farrell Rush of the assessor's office do anticipate a slowdown within the next six months.

But that doesn't do anything to lower current prices, and they're not likely to go down, as some have predicted.

"This isn't the stock market," Murphy points out.

For the uninitiated, the price of housing is for the most part influenced by forces of supply and demand. Right now, demand far exceeds supply.

Secondly, there is a myriad of governmental regulations with which builders must comply, and continually increasing labor and materials costs.

Add to that Contra Costa's average personal income of $16,000 to $17,000 — far above the national average — and the location (there's Mt. Diablo, regional parks, low population density, and the Emerald City just across the Bay), and the high price of housing is not so hard to understand.

There's really no mystery in buying a house: Work a lot and save a lot.

According to Simplicio, interest rates should remain constant at 9¼ per cent for at least the next six months.

He says FHA (Federal Housing Administration) and VA (Veteran's Administration) guaranteed loans are lower by about three-quarters of a point.

How does a person qualify for a loan?

Simplicio says the most important consideration is stability of the applicant's income. "That doesn't mean they have to have had the same job for two or three years," he says.

"Someone may have been on the job for only a week and still qualify if they have been in the same field for a reasonable time."

A college graduate who enters his major field as an occupation would have a better chance of qualifying because the FHA and VA assume he will stay in that line of work.

Those who operate their own businesses would be required to verify their income, Simplicio said. The wife's income is subject to the same criteria as the husband's, he added.

Unmarried people can enter into a joint ownership agreement.

Graduated mortgages, being used on an experimental basis through some FHA guaranteed loans, offer no real benefit to young homebuyers, Simplicio believes.

If the new FHA loan limit goes into effect, it will be possible to buy a $60,000 home for as little as $2,500 down.

"The most important thing," Simplicio believes, "is that people get the house they want."

But what if your dream house has eight-foot weeds

A most popluar place was this Capp Homes model in Lafayette. Recently the public was invited to view the precut home and more than 900 people turned out, many waiting in line to enter the home, according to Capp Homes' Dennis A. Foster. This the San Carlos plan which features 2,296 square feet plus a 484 - square - foot garage.

One way to cut costs of new home building

By BOB NOREK
Homes Editor

WALNUT CREEK — Capp Homes believes it has an alternative to the rising costs of building the non-tract home.

Capp Homes offers the consumer who wishes a custom home, but not at custom prices, a pre-cut home.

Dennis Foster, Walnut Creek Capp Homes sales representative, says his product is gaining more popularity as building costs continue to accelerate.

He is quick to point out that a Capp home is "not a prefab, it's a pre-cut home."

Foster explains that lumber is not cut at the firm's Spokane facility until a home order is received.

Capp offers 60 home plans with a price range of $24,230 to $45,929.

The Bank of American recently issued a report stating the building cost of a three-bedroom non-tract single-family home in this area is now $46,715.

Foster commenting on the consumer interest in the pre-cut homes reports that at a recent open house 900 people turned out to see a Capp home under construction in Lafayette.

Monford A. Orloff, chairman and chief executive officer of Evans Products Company (Capp Homes is an Evans division), has predicted major expansion of the product in the Midwest and California.

Foster foresees a doubling of West Coast production in the next year or two. "In the past 30 years, Capp has built 50,000 homes."

Foster, who lives in a Capp home himself, says, "We build a a well-built home that is an energy saver."

He says Capp homes are double-floor, double-wall homes with double pane window and door glass. "And they are fully insulated. Insulated beyond most building code requirements," Foster adds.

A Capp home is a shell. "We provide the lumber and do the framing," Foster says. "We do just what a carpenter does at a new home."

A Capp home does not include gutters, downspouts, paint or appliances. The homeowner must have a lot

Foster says Capp provides information on foundation work and also, in the purchase price, includes manuals on the electrical, plumbing and heating layouts plus materials to finish the home.

He says the homeowner may either do his own work or subcontract it out.

A Capp home plan and materials can be upgraded at additional cost. However, Foster says, interior walls can be moved without additional charge.

Foster (932-0495) says to purchase a Capp home a consumer need not own his lot outright. Capp Homes also has financing plans available.

The sales representative comments that there is a $300 order fee which serves as a downpayment. This fee freezes the price of a home for 180 days. Foster says that at the end of this month, Capp Homes will increase the price of its homes.

Capp has its own framing crew and it takes between three to four weeks to erect a home. Foster says the time factor from order to framing completion is four months maximum.

Laws cut ownership

WALNUT CREEK — There is no question that the rising tide of inflation in recent years has shut many people out of the housing market.

Many factors, including rising construction costs, have been cited. A lesser - known must share some of the burden.

Although not generally recognized as causing inflated prices, local, state and federal laws that severely restrict community growth also have played an important role in this regard.

Laws such as the Clean Air Act usually are enacted as measures to "protect the environment" or quality of life." However, they are now known to have an inflationary impact on prices of both new and existing homes.

These laws were the subject of a panel discussion for the news media at the recent Mid - Winter Meetings of the National Association of Realtors in Anaheim. Realtors and staff personnel discussed the effects of the laws.

Reduce home danger in brush fire regions

Thousands of California homeowners, especially those in forested or bad brush area areas, are worried again this year about the threat of fire damage.

According to Robert J. Laacke, the University of California's cooperative extension's forestry specialist, clearing trees and brush growing close to buildings can minimize the danger.

Laacke advised clearing away brush, overhanging branches, dry brush, trash or anything that burns readily around the homesite. Ground cover such as ivy and iceplant can discourage fire.

Laacke recommended keeping the landscape clean by making space between clumps of shrubs and trees to prevent fires from spreading.

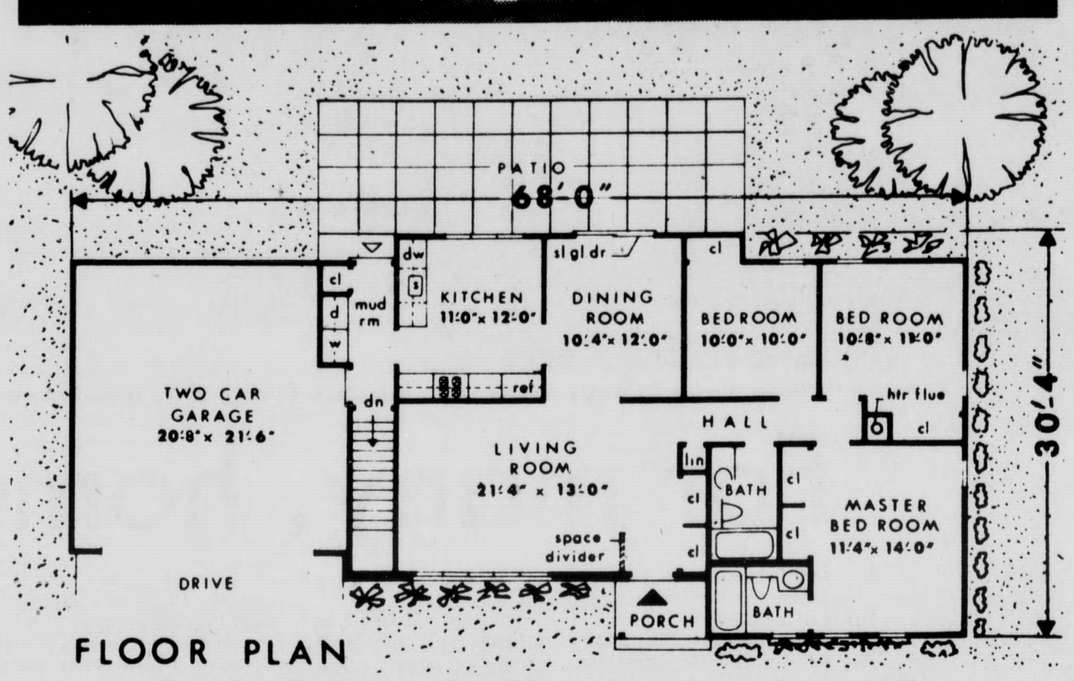

Laacke said trimming tree branches to 10 feet above the ground could prevent a ground fire from spreading to tree tops.

Roofing materials should be chosen from materials less flammable than wood shake and shingles. Laacke recommended asphalt shingles or asphalt and rock.

Laacke also recommended that neighbors cooperate to reduce risks and that homeowners know local fire ordinances and city and county fire departments.

New market rep for area apartment communities

Johnstown Properties Assistant Vice President Kent Heibak recently named Diane Browne as Northern California Marketing Representative.

Headquartered at the San Jose Regional office, Ms. Browne is responsible for the marketing activities at Johnstown's 2500 apartment communities located throughout Santa Clara, Alameda and Contra Costa Counties.

Ms. Browne is also handling industrial sales on Johnstown's Instant Home program which offers fully-furnished short term apartments to transferring or temporarily assigned employees in the area.

She joined Johnstown in May, 1975 as a Rental Consultant in the Pacific Northwest. Ms. Browne was formerly a stewardess with United Air Lines in the Seattle area.

She majored in communications at San Jose State University and the University of Washington. She graduated from the John Boyle Executive Power Research Seminar.

Johnstown Properties is the property management affiliate of the Consolidated Capital companies headquartered in Oakland with regional offices in the San Jose area. The firm currently manages 6,000 apartments and more than 3.4 million square feet of commercial/industrial property including Arbol Verde, Century Village, Winchester Park and the Franciscan in the San Jose area and Parkview Village, Hurley Villa, Mayfair, Viking Arms and Bonita Bay apartments in the Sacramento and San Francisco Bay area.

Realtors prime targets for fraud suits

By BOB NOREK
Business Editor

WALNUT CREEK — "Realtors are prime targets for fraud lawsuits," according to Concord attorney Stuart Safine.

Safine, Friday, told members of the Contra Costa Board of Realtors that realtors, attorneys and used car salesmen are not popular with the general public and the public strikes back with lawsuits when it feels it has been wronged.

The practicing real estate attorney said fraud suits against realtors are the coming wave. Safine told his breakfast meeting audience that realtors are targets because they constantly deal with legal transactions.

Safine explained there are three acts of fraud. They are false statement, suppression of facts and the promise to take an action while not planning to follow through with promise.

Safine said realtor generally faces civil fraud action and he added to avoid such lawsuits, a realtor should disclose anything he knows about a realty transaction.

The attorney told his breakfast audience the full disclosure law requires the realtor to inform the seller and buyer about all details and information concerning the transaction.

This also includes other brokers and subagents, Safine said. He added the only information that may not be given, based on the fair housing act, is sex, religion, color or ethnic background of an individual involved in the transaction.

"If a realtor is not sure about an element of the transaction, he should say 'I don't know'," the attorney urged.

"Don't guess, make an investigation," Safine said. "As is" deals are not honored in court.

"The court expects a realtor to be a trained professional with experience," Safine said. In court, he commented, the realtor must prove he acted with faith, loyalty and to the highest goal of his profession.

"It's almost guilty until proven innocent, but not quite," Safine added.

Once cleared by the court, a realtor may counter sue the plaintiff, Safine explained. He recommended that action to realtors.

Housing's second phase

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The housing industry has entered the second stage of the overall economic recovery, according to the monthly real estate status report prepared by the National Association of Realtors' Department of Economics and Research.

The early stage, the report says, was characterized by a rapid flow of funds into thrift institutions, a cyclical low point for interest rates, a rise in consumer confidence and, thus, a brisk housing market.

In the second stage, however, growth has been more moderate. The backlog of buyer demands is being satisfied and interested rates are beginning to rise because of competition by business for loans.

"The housing recovery, which is now 28 months old, has entered this second stage," said H. Jackson Pontius, association executive vice president.

Home gold rush by speculators has peaked out

SAN MATEO — Although California home prices continue to climb for the seventh consecutive month, the president of the California Association of Realtors said that he believes the "Gold Rush of speculation," a partial cause of the current price boom, has seen its day.

Speaking before Penninsula area Realtors in San Mateo, Jerome Blank of Albany, head of the 100,000-member statewide Realtors organization, today released results of his organization's latest survey of sales prices for existing homes, which revealed a new median high for the month of May of $60,356, a 3.5 per cent increase from the previous month and a 28 per cent climb from a year ago.

In making the report, Blank said that he sees several signs of stabilization in the market and predicted a leveling-off of prices and a possible downward trend in interest rates.

"The shortage of housing in California produced runaway prices in many areas and speculation by some buyers to cash-in on a fast profit," Blank said. "It appears that recent actions by the lending institutions to channel mortgage money to owner occupants only, are helping to curb the rash of speculation and I foresee a downward trend in interest rates as lender's begin to catch-up on the backlog of demand and become more aggressive in the marketplace."

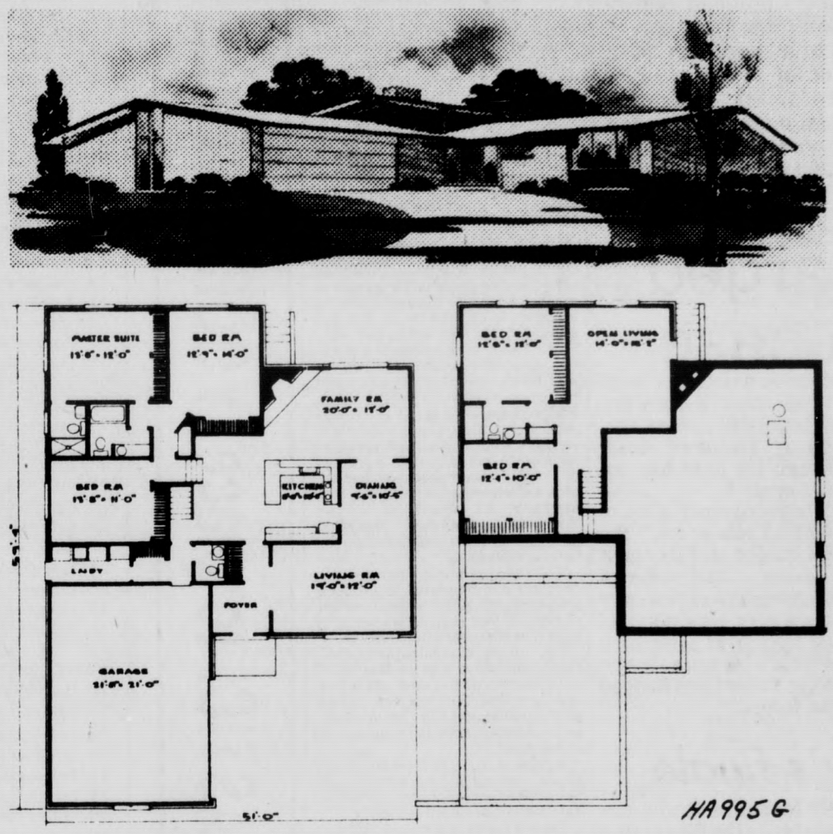

Blank said he believes that California is beginning to approach a "healthy balance" in the real estate marketplace which would benefit both buyers and sellers with greater selection of housing opportunities.

Referring back to the price survey, he noted that the $50,000-to59,999 category showed the greatest frequency of sales during the month of May (17.5 per cent), followed by homes in the $90,000 and over price range (16.9 per cent).

The $40.000-to-$49,999 bracket, sales leader a year ago, now represents only 15.9 per cent of the market.

Three bedroom homes, regardless of price bracket, continue to show greatest buyer demand (53.9 per cent), followed by four-ormore bedrooms (27.1 per cent).

Some home ideas

THE LOW-PITCHED ROOF LINE of this home gives the appearance of a one-story dwelling, but it's really a quad-level design. Plan HA995G by Carl Gaiser has 2,576 square feet. A family room on the upper level opens onto the patio. Another room on the lower level also can work as a recreation or game room. For more information, write to the architect—enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope—at 25600 Telegraph Road, Southfield, Mich. 48075.

New units go up in San Ramon

Construction has begun on 39 new homes in Shapell's Ranch Ramon subdivision, according to Stan Cook, Shapell's vice president of marketing and sales.

"More than 168 homes have been sold at Ranch Ramon since the luxury development opened in January 1976," Cook said.

According to Cook, the site is popular because of its proximity to schools, shopping centers and the growing communities of Danville and Dublin-San Ramon.

Adjacent to the subdivision is Athan Downs Park and behind it are the Alamo Hills.

Six models are currently displayed at Rancho Ramon, three one-story models ranging in size from 1,840 to 3,119 square feet; one 2,465 square foot split-level and two two-story units of 2,685 and 3,119 square feet.

Priced from $88,950, the homes have three, four and five bedrooms with two or three baths.

Included are three-car garages, wall-to-wall carpeting, fireplace, dishwasher, garbage disposal, double ovens and full fencing with gate.

Hayward broker pleas no contest to tax rap

SAN FRANCISCO — Julia V. Seaver, 61, a Hayward real estate broker, was sentenced in U.S. District Court to pay a total of $30,000 in fines and was given three years probation in lieu of a prison term for willfully attempting to evade federal income taxes and submitting false income tax returns for 1970 through 1972. Similar counts of a pending 12-count indictment were dismissed by the court against her husband, James A. Seaver, 52, upon the motion of the U.S. Attorney.

In pronouncing the sentence Judge Cecil F. Poole stated that it disturbed him profoundly, when persons who otherwise have the opportunity and ability to make significant contributions to society, knowingly attempt to cheat their Government.

On May 9, Seaver had pled no contest to charges of attempting to evade taxes of $12,328.18 on the joint returns she had filed with her husband for 1970, 1971 and 1972 by underreporting their taxable income for those years by a total of $47,871. She also pled no contest to charges of submitting false returns for those years which underreported gross business receipts by $36,922 and interest income by $8,836.

The Seavers live at 29005 Kensington Road, Hayward.

Home loans double

San Francisco — Bank of America, a leading U.S. real estate lender, said today that its long-term real estate loan volume for the first six months of this year totaled $1.36 billion, an increase of 111 per cent from the same period last year.

The bank also made short-term construction loans totaling nearly $490 million, an increase of 100 per cent from about $245 million in the first six months of 1976.

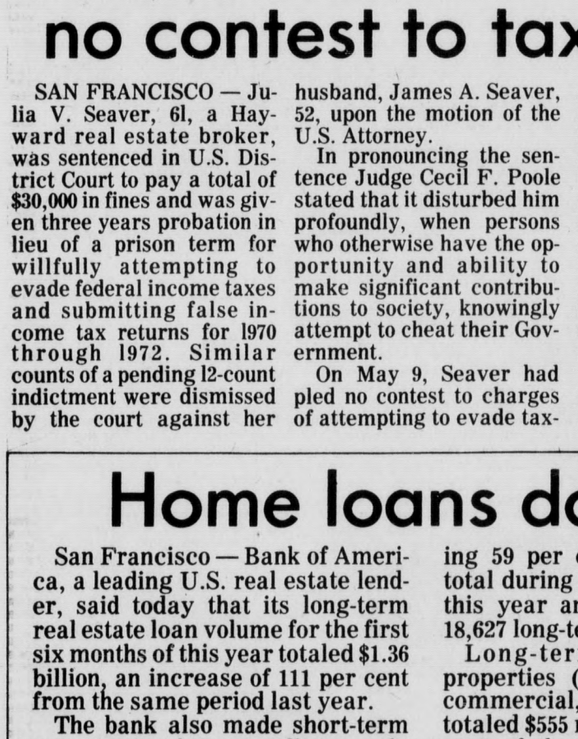

George H. Haley, senior vice president for real estate loans, said "the real estate activity of the bank remains exceptionally strong but will undoubtedly taper off somewhat in the coming six months."

Loans for single-family dwellings totaled $807 million, comprising 59 per cent of the long-term total during the first six months of this year and 88 per cent of the 18,627 long-term loans made.

Long-term loans for income properties (including residential, commercial, industrial, and other) totaled $555 million, equal to 41 per cent of the long-term dollar volume, and 12 per cent of the number of loans made.

Real estate loan outstandings of $7.1 billion at the end of the second quarter were up 10.5 per cent from $6.4 billion at the end of 1976, and up 19.9 per cent from $5.9 billion at June 30,1976.

Haley said demand for income-producing property from out-of-state and foreign investors remains at unusually high levels.

Chabot board views Valley campus work

Trustees of the South County Community College District will continue discussion of the 1977-78 building program, including construction now underway at Chabot Valley Campus, at a board meeting Tuesday in Hayward.

The board convenes in Building 200 of Chabot College in Hayward at 7:30 p.m.

Budgets for the general fund, building, bond interest and redemption funds will be up for adoption.

District architect Leo Meyer will present a progress report on construction now underway in the district.

Also to be considered is installation of energy savers on heat pumps at the Valley Campus.

Other agenda items include approval of a change order to the contract for construction of Phase III of Valley Campus facilities, selection of members for a community services advisory committee, consider naming of the football stadium for Charles W. Stone, and employment of a consultant.

Graft charged in Hoffa case

DETROIT (AP) — The FBI has information that Nixon administration officials were paid more than $250,000 by organized crime figures and Teamsters Union officials in return for stipulating in James R. Hoffa's parole that he could not regain power in the union, NBC-TV News says.

The Detroit News, meanwhile, reported today that the FBI was stepping up its pressure on underworld and union associates in efforts to crack Hoffa's disappearance two years ago. Hoffa is presumed dead, although his body has not been found.

"We've covered a lot of ground in two years," the News quoted an FBI agent as saying. "And some of that ground was literally skipped over. Now it's time to go back over some of it and walk a bit more slowly, looking at the trees instead of the forest."

Chabot play's finale

Final performances of "Never Too Late," starring veteran television-movie actor Jesse White supported by a local cast, will be presented tonight and Saturday at 8 o'clock in the College - Community Auditorium in Hayward.

White plays Harry Lambert, a married man in his 50s who discovers he'll be a father again. Co-starring with him is Chabot College student and Livermore resident Barbara Aubuchon, as his wife Edith.

All seats are $3 and are available at the Pleasanton Recreation Department, the Chabot College trailer office at Granada High School (today from 1 to 4 p.m.), and at all Macy's, Emporium, and Capwell's outlets. Gold card holders will be admitted free.

Army will deed sewer pump site

Fifteen acres of Army land at Camp Parks will apparently be made available for construction of a pump station as part of the $38 million sweage disposal project.

The Livermore - Amador Valley Water Management Agency (LAVWMA) announced Thursday night it had easement on the Army property. In return, the Army is guaranteed 300,000 gallons per day of sewage treatment to serve Komandorski Village, Santa Rita Jail and the old military base.

Contingency work to acquire an adjacent piece of private land in case the Army deal fell through was stopped Friday. That work cost taxpayers an estimated $2,250.

Two administrative assistants to Rep. Pete Stark (D-Oakland) had intervened to expedite the land transfer. Stark sent a telegram to Army headquarters in Georgia asking that the negotiations be speeded up to save local taxpayers money.

The private parcel was estimated to cost $420,000, not including construction costs or legal fees.

The land transfer is nearly certain to be completed. The Secretary of the Army must approve the agreement before it is assured.

Approval is also near for a state grant to partially fund a study of reclamation and reuse of wastewater in the Valley. The study would cost $379,000. The Valley's share is estimated at $47,375.

The report would include studying the effects of spraying treated effluent on agricultural lands locally. Some charge that the irrigation practice harms the vast underground water reservoirs.

When the final plan of study is drawn up, interested groups and agencies may be contacted for their reactions. A LAVWMA staff member suggested that a public hearing might also be appropriate.

LAVWMA will meet Aug. 18 at 7 p.m. in the Livermore City Council Chambers.

LEGAL NOTICE

City of Pleasanton has set AUGUST 9, 1977, at the hour of 8:00 P.M. o'clock in the Pleasanton Justice Court, 30 West Angela Street, Pleasanton, California, as the time and place to consider the following matter:

Appeal of Chris Kudriavtseff of a condition of approval of Case Z-77-84, design review of an overall signing program for the building located at 719 Main Street. Approval was given subject to the removal of the existing wooden sign on the building and its replacement with a smaller sign. The appellant is contesting the requirement to replace that sign.

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the above hearing shall be held and all persons concerned shall be heard by the City Council as stated above.

NOTICE OF FILING APPLICATION FOR INCREASES IN DIRECTORY ADVERTISING RATES

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company on July 20, 1977 filed with the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California an application for authority to increase certain intrastate rates and charges for Directory Advertising service furnished within the State of California. The proposed rate increase would permit Pacific to charge Directory Advertising rates that would be more comparable to the rates charged by other advertising media. No increase in rates and charges for telephone service is sought.

Only rates for directory advertising items in directories published after the Commission's approval of the proposed rate increase would be affected. In general terms, the proposed rate changes are as follows:

The formula for computing directory circulation would be modified, and the number of rate bands would be increased from 29 to 60. In addition to these changes, a revision is proposed in the general level of advertising rates, which will result in an average increase of 13.7 percent of directory revenues upon full implementation, which is approximately 31 months after Commission approval. Individual advertising items will increase by varying amounts.

The changes proposed in the application are estimated to produce an additional $23.3 million, which represents less than 1% increase in total Company intrastate revenues.

For future circulation changes, Pacific proposes that revised tariff schedules will become effective upon not less than five days notice to the public and the Commission, and coincident with the issuance of a new directory.

A copy of the rate increase application and supporting exhibits will be available for inspection at Pacific Telephone's principal offices.

Inquiries and comments relative to these matters, including requests to receive notice of date, time and place of any hearing may be directed to:

Public Utilities Commission of the State of California, Fifth Floor, State Building, Civic Center, San Francisco, California 94102.

Look at where trucks park

PLEASANTON — Council Member Frank Brandes has had several dozen complaints about commercial vehicles parked in residential neighborhoods, so he has asked the city staff to see what, if anything, can be done about controlling it.

Brandes said that the calls were spread evenly around town, not just in his home neighborhood of Del Prado. Asked if two dozen is a high number of calls for a council member to get about a problem, Brandes replied that he got 2,000 calls during his first year on the city council.

Such vehicles as tow trucks, panel trucks and delivery trucks have been the objects of the complaints.

"I asked the staff to see if any ordinances are possible to regulate it," said Brandes. "A lot of it has been popping up all over the city and my understanding is that we now have no ordinances to cover it except for the home occupation permit procedure and weight limits for heavy vehicles."

Brandes has not called for a clampdown, but just an investigation of the problem and what tools might be available to control it.

His personal opinion is that commercial tucks and their big advertising signs "detract from the integrity of neighborhoods."

Thanks

Bill Dougherty, left, president of Altamont Aviation at Livermore Airport, received the Civil Air Patrol Certificate of Appreciation by Major Dennis Matarrese Thursday. Major Matarrese is Commander of Civil Air Patrol (CAP) Squadron 156. This squadron meets Tuesdays, 7 p.m. at Altamont Aviation.

Addition for bike system

HAYWARD — The Alameda County Planning Commission will convene for awhile here tomorrow, then head for Hayward and San Leandro for a field trip.

While in session, the panel will consider adding a stretch of the frontage road on the north side of I-580 between Dougherty Road and Tassajara Road to the county bikeways system. Making the designation would help get state money for a gate in a fence near the railroad tracks along Dougherty Road.

Eventually the county would like to make a bikeways system running from Dougherty Road to its intersection with Tassjara Road, then down Tassajara to the frontage road near Santa Rita Rehabilitation Center and back to Dougherty Road.

The commissioners also will have a work session on the State Office of Planning and Research's new document, "Urban Development Strategy for California". The meeting will begin at 1:30 p.m. at 399 Elmhurst.

Hearing on Pleasanton growth plan

PLEASANTON — The growth management plan will get its first public hearing at 8 p.m. Aug. 8 in a special meeting of the planning commission.

No decision will be made that night by the commission. The meeting is strictly for public input. The commission is expected to continue the public hearing another two or three weeks for more public input and then a decision. Later it will go to the city council.

Anyone interested in the growth mangagement program may contact the planning department at city hall, 200 Bernal Ave. or 846-3202, and pick up documents about the plan prior to the meeting August 8.

EBMUD appoints new exec

OAKLAND — Malcom K. Carter of Lafayette has been named manager of the newly formed Employee Relations Department of East Bay Municipal Utility District.

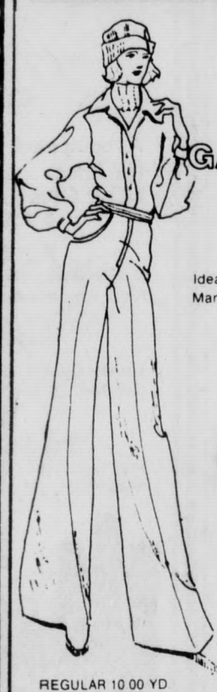

The new department consolidates into one office the variety of functions relating to employment with the utility district, including the responsibilities for labor relations, safety and training, personnel, employee services and affirmative action.

The reorganization is intended to improve the coordination of the personnel functions that were previously handled by three separate offices.

Carter has held various positions with EBMUD since 1966. Most recently, he was manager of the Industrial Relations Department with the responsibility for negotiations with employee organizations and for safety and training.
